Press Information

Between these covers you should find just about everything you need to know about the Tigers. Please don't hesitate, however, to call on us at any time.

If you're assigned to cover a game in Clemson's Memorial Stadium this fall, the following hints will be helpful:

ENTRANCE TO STADIUM/PRESS BOX

Enter through Gate 13 which is located on the press box (South) side of the field at the south-east corner. Should you have need to pick up tickets at our press will call gate, they will be at Gate 13. Come through Gate 13, and go straight ahead to the elevator which will take you to the press box.

PRESS BOX

There are two levels to Clemson's press box, located in the center of the club level of the South stands. The first level contains the photo deck, a dark room, the outside PA, stadium operations & security, along with booths for field telephones, radio networks, and athletic directors for Clemson and the visiting team. The second level is for the print media, with seating accommodations for 104 members of the working press. This level houses Clemson's famous buffet, and the telecopier room.

WORKING CREDENTIALS

We'll appreciate getting these as early as you know your assignment. Requests for working press and photo passes are honored from SPORTS EDITORS of DAILY newspapers and RADIO & TV SPORTS DIRECTORS ONLY. Make request directly to BOB BRADLEY. There is not room for individual radio stations in the press box, only the two networks of the participating schools. Spouses, dates, non-workers, and anyone 16 years of age or younger, are not permitted in the press box.

PARKING PASSES AND COMPLIMENTARY TICKETS

There are a limited number of these available for use by the members of the working press, and the sooner we know of your need, the closer we will come to filling your request. Your request should be made directly to BOB BRADLEY.

TELECOPIER AND ELECTRONIC SERVICES

Our press box is equipped with eight (8) outside phone lines for your electronic equipment, and at no charge to your paper. We will have three telecopiers at the game which can be used on a first-come, first-serve basis, and we also have press box assistants who are available to send you copy as necessary. THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR ANY OF THESE SERVICES.

It is the responsibility of each paper to make prior arrangements for season-long phone installations, which gives the paper first priority on that phone. Electrical and phone jacks are at each seat.

There are also three other phones which are reserved for radio voice reports for an hour after the game conclusion.

We furnish a typed play-by-play, individual and team stats, and coaches' quotes. Also, our communications center staff furnishes a packet of first half action shots — six 5x7 black and white prints which are free upon request.

LOCKER ROOM INTERVIEWS

Bob Bradley will escort those writers wishing to go to the Clemson dressing room, whereas the visiting SID will make the trip to the opponent's dressing area. This usually takes place with about three minutes showing on the scoreboard clock. The dressing rooms are located beneath the West end zone stands to your left from the press box.

DANNY FORD'S WEEKLY PRESS CONFERENCE

Every Tuesday during the football season, Coach Danny Ford will hold a weekly press conference at the Clemson House beginning at 11:00 a.m.

The first gathering is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 10, prior to the season opener with Virginia Tech, and the 11th and final regular season session is planned for Tuesday, Nov. 19, prior to the South Carolina game.

DAILY SPORTS REPORT

The Clemson Sports Information Office tapes a 3-minute daily sports report each morning, Monday through Friday, with emphasis on the sports during their respective seasons. Interviews are conducted with the various coaches, as well as players. To get an up-to-date report on the Tigers, call 803-654-4402.

BEST TIME TO CONTACT COACH DANNY FORD

If you find it impossible to attend his weekly press conference, Coach Danny Ford is usually available for telephone interviews in his office daily, Tuesday through Friday, from 10:30-11:30 a.m., and from 2:30-3:30 p.m. His office number is 803-656-2101, ext. 260.

FALL PRACTICE PLANS

New Clemson players will report to campus August 10. Returning players will report the 15th for physicals. Conditioning for the entire team begins August 16 and the team goes into pads for the first time August 20. The annual Fan Picture Day is set for August 25.

Special thanks to football secretaries June Roach and Elaine Swearingen and to Sam Blackman who spent countless hour researching the new all-time starting lineup section in this year's press guide.

Printing: Keys Printing Co., Greenville, SC.

The Clemson football guide was voted fourth in the nation in 1984, the second straight year it has been rated among the top four football press guides in the nation. This is the 31st CoSIDA award the Clemson sports information office has received in the last seven years, six certificates have been for football related publications.

Assistant Coaches who have been at Clemson the longest (includes time as part-time coach):

1. Bob Jones, 39 years
2. Banks McFadden, 25 years
3. Goat McMillan, 24 years
4. Bob Smith, 21 years

Accommodations

There are two major motels in Clemson proper, the Ramada Inn (803) 654-7501, and the Holiday Inn (803) 654-4450. But, they are booked on game weekends, so if you are in a bind, call Bob Bradley at the sports information office and he will try to pull a few strings.

All Stars

Clemson has two all-star candidates that stand above the crowd as far as national attention is concerned. Steve Reese, an all-conference offensive guard, is a 270-pounder who runs the 40 in 4.72 seconds, the best ever by a Clemson offensive lineman. Terrance Roulhac, all-conference wide receiver in 1984, led the ACC in touchdown receptions last year with eight and is one of the most feared offensive players in the nation. Reese is a senior and Roulhac a junior, and both are preseason All-Americans by the Sporting News. Don't forget about Michael Dean Perry, William's little brother. He is only a sophomore this year, but he broke all of William's freshman records last year and was third in the ACC in tackles for loss. Michael Dean is already a third-team preseason All-American in one poll.

Alma Mater

The Clemson alma mater actually came about because of an embarrassment. At an ROTC camp in Plattsburgh Barracks, NY attended by a Clemson ROTC group in 1918, the schools got together to sing their respective alma maters.

Steve Reese is Clemson's top all-star candidate.

But, the Clemson group did not have a school song and was embarrassed by the fact. Albert C. Corcoran, one of the cadets, was so embarrassed that upon his return to Clemson he composed the words to the current alma mater. Dr. John Butler later composed the music. The alma mater is as follows:

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play
Here the sons of dear old Clemson,
Reign Supreme away.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tigers' roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

Alumni Association

Located on the Clemson campus and directed by George Moore. His office number is 656-2345.

Attendance

An ever-changing number at Clemson. With the upper deck addition to the North Stands, the seating capacity at Memorial Stadium is 73,915 permanent seats. That figure does not include 6,000 fans in the east end zone on the green grass area. In general we list the capacity as 79,724.

The record crowd is 82,093, so we are capable of squeezing about 8,200 on the grass bank or in obscure regions of the aesthetically pleasing (there are countless trees within the confines of the stadium) structure. The attendance progression has been steady over the recent years. In 1977 the capacity was 43,451; in 1978 it went to 53,306 and in 1982 it went up to 57,307. With the addition in 1982 we have now risen 31,253 in capacity since 1977, or a 71.93 percent increase.

In 1975 the average home crowd was 39,174. Last year the average home crowd was 77,945, or about a 99 percent increase over an eight-year period. At this pace, by the year 2000 the average home attendance will be 284,632 per game. We might have to park the cars in Greenville if we keep this up.

Bradley, Bob

Now in his 31st year of service as Clemson's Sports Information Director, Bob Bradley is the man who runs the show on game day at Clemson. If you have any problems call him at home (803) 654-5419, or at the office (803) 656-2114. He's been known to arrange police escorts, fix flat tires, or solve just about any member of the media's problems over the years. He has received every award conceivable in his profession, including Most Valuable Fisherman at the ACC Sportswriters meeting at Grandfather Mountain for the last 31 years in a row. He has given up chewing tobacco however, proof that some things do change with time. Maybe taxation will end some day.

Broadcast Network

Clemson football games can be heard on about 65 radio stations across the Southeast. Jim Phillips is in his 18th year as voice of the Tigers, while Tim Bourret, Clemson's Associate SID, and Denver Bronco Scout Clyde Wrenn are the color analysts. If you have any questions about the network call Len Gough at the Clemson athletic department at (803) 656-2101.

Cheerleading

Clemson's cheerleading squad has been just as successful as the football team in recent seasons. Last year's team was ranked ninth in the nation giving the squad three straight years of top 10 finishes.

Chewing Tobacco

In addition to having successful football teams as a common denominator between Danny Ford and Frank Howard, they also chew tobacco at an alarming rate. Ford chews two kinds basically, Taylor's Pride on game days and Red Man during the week. Howard stays with Red Man most of the time, although if anyone wants to give him a case of another brand he will be glad to sample it for you.

Cody, Josh

Although Josh Cody is not spoken in the same breath with Frank Howard and Jess Neely when it comes to great Clemson coaches of the past, he will live in the hearts of Clemson fans forever. Cody, who guided the Tigers from the sidelines between 1927 and 1930, is the only coach in Clemson history who has been around more than one year who never lost a football game to South Carolina. Cody was 4-0 against Clemson's chief rival and the Tigers outscored the Gamecocks during that time 93-21.

Colors

Burnt orange and Northwest purple officially, but you will see a lot of white and blue. The Clemson orange is PMS 165 and the blue used on the trim of the stadium is Reflex Blue and is PMS 541. Clemson used to have gold as a color, but the uniforms faded after a long football season so Jess Neely changed to a more colorfast orange.

Conference

Clemson is a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Tigers were charter members, in 1953. Prior to that, Clemson was in the Southern Conference from 1921 to 1952. Clemson was in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association before that. Clemson has been a charter member of every conference it has been affiliated with.

Conference Championships

Clemson has more ACC titles than any other school, as the Tigers won or shared the ACC title in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1965, 1966, 1967, 1978, 1981 and 1982. Clemson won the Southern Conference in 1940 and 1948.

Cox, Gary

Only player in the history of the world to serve as a captain at both Clemson and South Carolina. Cox was a South Carolina player and captain in 1943, then, after the war, transferred to Clemson and served as a captain of the 1947 team. In recent memory Paul Williams is the only other football player to play for both schools. He played for Clemson against South Carolina in 1978 and for South Carolina against Clemson in 1980 and 1981.

Darkness

Only one game in Clemson history has been called on account of darkness. In 1905 the Tigers were leading Auburn 26-0 when both coaches decided it was just too dark to keep playing so the game was called. That should be the only game in history called at Clemson as Memorial Stadium now is complete with lights in anticipation of television games for the future.

Clemson has faced four of the last five Heisman Trophy winners, including Doug Flutie here in 1982.

Death Valley

Name synonymous with Clemson Memorial Stadium. The Stadium was dubbed this affectionate title by the late Lonnie McMillian, a former coach at Presbyterian. He used to take his teams to play at Clemson, and they rarely scored, never mind gain a victory. Once he told the writers he was going to play Clemson up at Death Valley. It stuck somewhat, but when Frank Howard started calling it that in the fifties, the term really caught on.

Draftees

A total of six players were taken from Clemson by the NFL drafters last season. Clemson has now had 38 players chosen in the NFL draft since 1979. Last year Clemson had 17 players on active NFL rosters, the 17th best total in the nation. The six players chosen last year tied as the fifth highest by one school in the country.

Emergency Phone

In case of emergency at Clemson Memorial Stadium, call (803) 656-2110. The Clemson University police number is (803) 656-2222.

Enrollment

Clemson is the third smallest school in the ACC when it comes to student numbers (only Wake Forest and Duke are smaller). The enrollment figure currently is 12,122 and that counts everyone, undergrads, graduates, dogs, cats, and amoebas in the biology lab.

Esso Club

When you want to cover a Clemson football weekend and capture the true flavor of the entire proceedings you have to make a pit stop at the Esso Club. If this sounds like a combination bar and gas station, well, you're right. Clemson fans for many years have frequented this famous weekend watering hole. This is where the true Clemson fan hangs out before and after a game. Jacket and tie are definitely not required.

Ezell, Doc

Clemson basketball player Edward Bynum was a manager before he joined the varsity last year, but he is not the only varsity athlete recruited off a student organization to competitive duty. In 1903 Doc Ezell, the head cheerleader, joined the football team at mid-season because of injuries and played with the club the rest of the year. He certainly did not hurt the team as the Tigers finished 4-1-1.

Faculty Representative

Dr. B. J. Skelton is the faculty rep for Clemson, a position he took over in 1983. His office phone number is (803) 656-2283. Last year he served as president of the ACC.

Film Clip Service

Each week the Clemson SID office and the Communications Center put together a 10-play highlight package of the previous week's game complete with script on the enclosed plays. The video tape is available for TV stations by calling Bob Bradley at (803) 656-2114, or Tom Shockley (803) 656-3204.

Floyd, George

George Floyd will always hold a soft spot in the heart of Frank Howard. In Howard's first play as head coach in 1940 he called a wingback reverse for Floyd to carry the ball. He grabbed the ball and sped for a touchdown on Howard's first play as a head coach against Presbyterian. Clemson went on to a 38-0 victory.

Food

Some of the finest Southern cuisine is available at Clemson football games, but you get only one trip through the line so make the most of it. The menu features fried chicken, sliced roast beef, ham and turkey, lettuce, tomato, various cheeses, chili and hot dogs. And don't forget the world-famous butterscotch brownies, but don't ask for the recipe — it's a secret.

Football Secretaries

June Roach and Elaine Swearingen are the real coaches of the Clemson football staff and are totally responsible for all correspondence, complaints, controversy, wins and losses. They do a superb job and usually carry out all duties in as humorous a manner as possible. They can be reached at (803) 656-2101, ext 267. But, don't call them to set up interviews, call the SID office.

Gee, Mutt

Few Clemson administrators have had the varied career Mutt Gee had. Gee was a Clemson assistant coach who worked his way up to the position of athletic director. An excellent administrator, he later became a college president at East Texas State University.

Gillespie, Frank

When you discuss Clemson's all-time student-athletes, Mike Eppley certainly comes to mind among contemporary Clemson fans. But, Tiger fans of the late forties recall Frank Gillespie, perhaps Clemson's all-time student-athlete. Gillespie is one of just two athletes in Clemson history to letter in football, basketball and baseball (Dewey Quinn is the other), and he won the McKelvin Award as the Southern Conference's top all-around athlete in 1948. Gillespie was all-conference in football in 1948 and during the 1947-48 academic year he started in all three sports, as a third baseman in baseball and a guard in football and basketball. In addition to all this, Gillespie had a 3.0 GPA in electrical engineering, found time to hold down mechanical engineering as a second major, and was president of the Clemson student body. Whew!

Goalpost

NCAA regulations stipulate the pipe must be 4" in diameter, must have posts which are 20' or more in height and 23'4" apart. The crossbar is 10' high. The Clemson student body tore down the goalposts in the end zone with the grass bank after Clemson's emotional 52-27 win over Maryland in 1983, the only time the goalposts have come down at Clemson.

Heisman Foes

Clemson has played a difficult schedule in recent years and a look at the list of recent Heisman Trophy winners is an example. Clemson has faced four of the last five Heisman winners on the gridiron, including Doug Flutie. The Tigers faced Boston College in 1982 and 1983, and have also gone against George Rogers, Herschel Walker and Mike Rozier in the last five years.

Heisman, John

Yes, the same guy who they named the trophy after used to coach at Clemson. You have to go back to the 1900-03 era to find him, but he brought Clemson its first unbeaten season in 1900, a 6-0 ledger. Heisman coached at Clemson for four seasons making an astronomical $1800 a year. In 1904 Georgia Tech offered him $2250 and he was gone to Atlanta. Clemson should have scrapped up the extra money to keep him. With John Heisman as head coach Clemson beat Georgia Tech 73-0 in 1903, but two years later, with Heisman at Georgia Tech, the Yellow Jackets downed the Tigers 17-10. Coaching does make a difference.

Homecoming Results

Clemson fans get especially fired up on Homecoming and the result has been a 13-0-1 record since 1970. Here are the year-by-year Homecoming results since 1922.

Howard, Frank

Frank Howard is the legend of Clemson football and he still comes to work every day in the Clemson Athletic Department. His office number in the Jervey Athletic Center is (803) 656-2100.

Clemson has had a top 10 cheerleading squad in each of the last three years. Sherry Thrift (far right) was chosen Miss South Carolina this past July, and she will be a strong Miss America candidate in September.

Give him a call for some great quotes, information on Clemson football history, or to take out an advertisement in Kickoff.

Interview Policy

Interviews during the week for Clemson players or coaches should be arranged through Sports Information Director Bob Bradley. Call us for your request and we will get the player to call you collect. Sorry, no home numbers of players will be distributed because too many media have had a tendency to call for midnight interviews.

King, Don

Holder of Clemson's single game rushing record between 1952 and 1982. This was one of the longer standing records in the Clemson books and the circumstances surrounding this great individual accomplishment deserve repeating. Don King was a freshman on the 1952 team and when injuries caused a shifting in the lineup, King was called on to start against Fordham in the seventh game of the season his first college start. King had never played tailback before as a starter and Fordham came in with the number-one defense in the nation. He proceeded to gain 234 yards that day. But, Clemson's quarterback was injured in the game and King had to move to quarterback the next week and he stayed at the position the rest of his career. Thus, King started one game in his career at tailback, gained 234 yards in the game, and never started at the position again. The record stood for 30 years until Cliff Austin gained 260 yards against Duke in 1982.

Lights

We've got them, but don't use them. Yes, there are lights at Clemson Memorial Stadium, but the investment was made strictly for television games. Clemson fans come from all over and like the 1:00 P.M. start because they can come and go the same day. So, you won't see any night games at Clemson unless television gets involved. They probably will get their first use when Maryland plays at Clemson this year, a 2:30 kickoff for CBS-TV is planned.

Littlejohn, Charles

There are many documentations of iron-man service in sports, but none in Clemson history is more impressive than the mark held by Charles Littlejohn. He played in the golden, tough age of college football between 1913 and 1915. During that time he never missed a contest, playing 25 games in a row. But, that does not document the depth of his accomplishment, because not only did he play every game, he never missed a second of play. Every play, every kickoff, every punt, Charles Littlejohn was out there. That's 1500 consecutive minutes of football, and a lot of Ben Gay.

Lost & Found

At Memorial Stadium, if you can't find it, go to the Gate 1 information booth. Hopefully someone else did and it will be there.

McJunkin, Joe

Feisty elevator operator at the Clemson press box. He has served since 1958, or since Clemson has had a press box elevator. Don't cross him if you don't have your press pass, it's a long fall from the press level deck to the bottom of the elevator shaft.

The Tailgate Show gets Clemson fans to the stadium three hours before game time.

Medical Facilities

Available during football games under Section J on the South Side, under Section T on the North Side and Section E under South Top Deck of the stadium. There also is one under the North Top Deck.

National Champions

Believe it or not, we were in 1981.

Offense

Basic I-formation attack that relies on the running game. Clemson ran the ball overall 74.6 percent of the time in 1984. The 1981 team ran the ball 77.5 percent of the time. But, with a 37-6-2 record over the last four seasons, no one is complaining.

Orange & White

Publication founded by former Clemson Assistant SID Al Adams that is in its seventh season of issue. Al is no longer with the paper, but it is still going strong. To contact the publisher, Phil Batson, call (803) 654-6553. It is now owned by IPTAY and serves as the organization's newspaper.

Press Guide

The Clemson football guide was voted fourth in the nation by CoSIDA. In 1983 it was second, the highest finish ever for this publication. This verbose section might have had something to do with it according to the judges.

Press Passes

These can get scarce, especially the Georgia and Maryland games. For all photo, press, TV, parking, and men's room passes contact Bob Bradley. His number is (803) 656-2114. Please make your requests at least two weeks in advance. Wives and children of media are not allowed in the press box.

Pepper

Legendary member of the Clemson unofficial photo crew, who also puts in some time in the press box. Unmistakable when wearing his full orange suit on game day. Owns more cameras than Carter has liver pills. President of local Chicago Cubs Fan Club.

Phillips, Jim

"Voice of the Tigers" in his 18th year doing Clemson Football. Won the Brian Piccolo Award of broadcasting in 1982 when he gave the play-by-play account of the Western Carolina game only five days after back surgery. Broadcasted most of that game while standing up with a walker.

Probation

We're not on it in any way in 1985. Clemson is free to be on television, go to bowl games, be ranked in any poll, win the ACC championship, visit Kansas City, date co-eds, talk to strangers, travel to Greece, anything.

Promotions

Anything related to promotions, wild hats that buzz, or clocks that play Tiger Rag, should be handled through Len Gough. His number is (803) 656-2101. He is responsible for Clemson's promotions and will answer your questions in the advertising and promotional realm.

Publications

To obtain more copies of this press guide and any other brochure produced by the Clemson SID office, send a note to Bob Bradley, P.O. Box 632, Clemson, SC 29633. This year's football guide is $6 by mail.

Pushups

The Clemson Tiger has made a name for himself with his pushup exhibition. After every score the Clemson mascot does pushups corresponding to the number of points Clemson has scored at the time. This can be a difficult task in the heat of the day, like during a Georgia game when it is 85 degrees, or during a Wake Forest game when the Tigers are scoring 82 points. Zack Mills, 1978 Tiger, established the tradition and it has been carried on ever since. And, yes, the single game record you ask, 476 pushups by the Tiger during that 1981 Wake Forest game. He actually could have done 552, but the Demon Deacon felt sorry for the Tiger doing all those pushups in the fourth quarter and he did the task after Clemson scored to make it 76-17.

Red-shirts

Danny Ford has successfully used the NCAA red-shirt rules to everyone's advantage over the last couple of years. The extra year of experience has given his teams more depth. At the same time, his players are allowed to stretch their academic progress over a five-year period and it gives them a better chance of graduating. Of the 103 players on the returning varsity roster, 86 of them have red-shirted because of injury, coach or player's decision.

Running down the hill: The most celebrated stadium entrance in sport.

Rock, Howard's

When the Clemson team gathers to run Down the Hill (see Running down the Hill) the players rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones '19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA.

Running Down the Hill

One of the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint. After Clemson's last warmup the team retreats to the home dressing room located under the West Stands. At about 12:50, the team boards two buses and drives around the periphery of the Stadium to the East side of the field. After everyone is properly collected, the cannon sounds, Tiger Rag is played and Clemson charges down the hill and onto the field. It is one of the most celebrated entrances in sport. The Tigers have done it for every game since 1942, except for 1970, 1971, and four games of the 1972 season. In all, the Tigers have run down the hill 180 times.

Section GG

This is the green grass section of the hill, which is located in the East Stands. (See Running Down the Hill).

Shutouts

The 1928 Clemson team holds the record with seven in one season, including six to open the season. No one scored on the Tigers during the first 360 minutes of football and Clemson outscored the opposition 133-0 during this time. But,

Mississippi broke the streak with a 26-7 win over the Tigers and Josh Cody's team ended the season, 8-3.

Spirit Day

This is fast becoming a Clemson tradition, tradition number 137 involving Clemson football. Two years ago the student body released 363,729 balloons prior to the Maryland game to establish a new Guinness Book of Records for a balloon launch. Last year the students held up flash cards during pregame and halftime ceremonies. Now, we are not talking these little card sections Southern Cal has in the Coliseum. This was a card in every seat in the Stadium, over 350,000 cards in all, spelling out themes that have to do with Clemson football. Check the cover of this press guide for an example.

Tailgate Show

When you are driving to Clemson football games get an advance on what is happening in Tigertown with the Tailgate Show. It starts on the airways about three hours before gametime and is highlighted by special guests, prizes, phone calls, music, game notes, interviews, and just about anything that has to do with a Clemson football weekend.

Russ Cassell, Burt Henderson and Jane Robelot are your hosts. Russ and Burt sit on a stage outside of Littlejohn Coliseum and Jane is your roving reporter in a golf cart. Cassell is the popular morning man on WFBC-FM and is the type of guy who could make money opening a grits store in South Dakota. Henderson is Clemson's associate executive secretary of IPTAY.

Cassell is the real key to Clemson's success recently. The Tigers have lost one home football game when he has done a tailgate show prior to the game (25-1-2). Robelot is a Clemson graduate who is the afternoon news anchor at WSPA-TV in Spartanburg, a program on the local CBS affiliate. She has moved up the ladder quickly and gives Phyllis George many sleepless nights.

To order phone lines for a broadcast or a telephone by your seat in the press box call June Kennedy at (803) 798-7310.

Tigerama

World's largest pep rally, this is one of the best examples of Clemson spirit. The Friday night before Homecoming about 35,000 people come to Memorial Stadium for a combination pep rally, beauty pageant and skit presentation. Last year about 37,000 people attended the rally, which is more than the average home football attendance for over half the schools in the ACC.

Two-on-the-Fifty

Most often used request heard by Clemson Ticket Manager Van Hilderbrand. He has a few more tickets to juggle, with the double deck on both sides, but they still will be hard to come by for Georgia and Maryland. His number is (803) 656-2118.

Weather

For an update on the weather in the Clemson area the day of a game call (803) 232-5931.

Will Call

Located at Gate 13 at Clemson Memorial Stadium, Bob Bradley usually drops the passes off by 11:00 A.M. for a 1:00 P.M. game.

Yates, Cricket

Former student assistant who depressed countless men from Missouri to Annapolis, MD to the Carolinas when she was married this past June 15. Although she is in exile living in Fayetteville, NC, she will return to the press box to work Clemson home football games this year. Her receiving line begins promptly at 12:15 in the lobby of the press box. The wedding was major league with over 450 at the reception, including administrators from five ACC schools.

Bob Williams

The ultimate Benedict Arnold of college football is Bob Williams. Although the rivalry was not at the pitch it is today, this gentleman coached at both Clemson and South Carolina. He guided the Gamecocks in 1902 and 1903 and served the Tigers in 1906, 1909 and 1913 to 1915. He was never on the losing side, either, as he was 1-0 for South Carolina against Clemson, and 3-0-1 for Clemson against the Gamecocks. Think of the money he could command today.

Clemson will be back in the post-season bowl picture in 1985.

List of Interests

Clemson was seventh in the nation in football attendance last season. Here is a game-by-game breakdown of the home games in order of attendance:

1. South Carolina, 82,093
2. Duke, 80,617
3. North Carolina, 80,111
4. Virginia Tech, 77,754
5. Appalachian State, 75,398
6. Wake Forest, 71,697

In recent years Clemson spring football practice has been a ho-hum deal. It seems Danny Ford has always had tons of veteran players returning for the next season and most of the starting lineup had already been decided. Spring was a time to fine-tune skills, get the younger players some experience, and get a suntan.

That was not the case in 1985 as the senior-dominated 1984 team will have a facelift this year. "This was the most important spring practice since I have been at Clemson," said Ford. "Just look at the offensive line, we lost five starters off last year's team and all those youngsters in the defensive line needed work. It was a very important spring practice."

At times it was a frustrating spring for Ford because of the injury situation. "We had more injuries during spring practice than any other spring since I have been at Clemson. We had to actually suspend practice for four days because so many guys were hurt. At one time we had our first three centers out with injuries and that really put our offense on hold. The only offensive lineman who was not hurt at one time or another was Steve Reese and he didn't need any work." As a result, Ford actually had two scrimmages after the spring game, the first time since he has been at Clemson that the Orange & White Game did not end spring practice.

Ford worked his charges hard with a lot of scrimmage sessions this time around. "We worked a lot on the basics early in spring practice this year, but by the last couple of weeks we had a lot of scrimmage time. We had six full contact scrimmages in Death Valley this spring and many other times we scrimmaged on the practice field behind the Jervy Athletic Center. We felt there were so many young players who had not played in game-type situations that we had to get them that experience. This was especially the case with the quarterbacks because they need experience reading coverages.

"Overall we had a good spring practice, the workouts were spirited for the most part and some young players showed significant improvement by the end. But, we certainly have a tremendous amount of work to do. And, the schedule is not kind to us this season, opening on the road against Virginia Tech, who will be playing its third game of the year. Four of our first five games are against teams that went to bowl games."

Clemson has a 37-6-2 record over the last four seasons, the fourth best record in the nation for this time period. The outstanding class of '84 tied an ACC record for the most wins as a class and the winning percentage (.844) was the third best in the history of the 32-year-old league.

Missing from the Clemson roster of 1985 will be ACC Player-of-the-Year William Perry, a three-time All-American middle guard who led the nation in tackles for loss last season. Mike Eppley, a three-year starter at quarterback, has also graduated. He ranked in the top 25 in the nation in passing over the last two years and is Clemson's all-time leader in career touch-down passes and completion percentage. And, All-America punter Dale Hatcher and his career average of 42.7, best in Clemson history, has also graduated to the pro ranks. These three stars, plus five offensive linemen who started for at least two years have also departed. Overall, 29 lettermen and 14 starters are gone and there are only 12 seniors on the entire roster, and only five of them have ever started.

Head Coach Danny Ford does have 10 starters returning to lead his seventh Clemson team. All-ACC wide receiver Terrance Roulhac and all-conference guard Steve Reese are two of the most feared players in the league at their respective positions, while the defense returns sophomore defensive tackle Michael Perry and reliable bandit end Terence Mack. And, Ford has utilized a sizeable red-shirt program in recent years as he held out 16 of 18 freshmen a year ago. Additionally, 30 excellent recruits will get their respective chances this year as Ford recruited the fourth best class in the country according to one of the major scouting services.

Clemson Offense (4 returning starters, 17 returning lettermen)

Danny Ford has a solid corps of returning lettermen at the skill positions this year, but the offensive line was decimated at graduation time. Ford has players returning that gained 88 percent of the rushing yardage last year, but no offensive tackle that has ever lettered appears on the roster, and only five returning lettermen worked anywhere in the offensive line last year.

Clemson must fill five starting slots out of the six offensive line positions this year so former offensive line coach Danny Ford spent a lot of time with young guards and tackles while the flowers bloomed on campus this past spring. Reid Ingle, Dale Swing, Andy Cheatham, Jeff Cruce and Joe Ellis all earned at least three letters at Clemson and were off and on starters in each of the last two years.

While Clemson is lacking experience in the trenches, ironically Ford might have his best all-around football player at an offensive guard position. Steve Reese is a senior from Mableton, GA who was an honorable mention All-American by AP last year and a first-team all-conference choice by both the sportswriters and the Associated Press. Reese graded in the nineties in nine of the 11 games in 1984 and he had an average grade of 91.0 in 1984, the best figure on the club.

A pair of Jeffs will battle it out for the other starting guard position. Jeff Nunamacher is the number-one right guard after spring practice. He and Jeff Bak waged quite a war most of the spring, but Bak was injured in late March and missed some time, allowing the 280-pound red-shirted freshman to move ahead of him.

John Watson and Wes Mann are the frontrunners at the tackle positions after spring practice. Watson was the athletic department's academic award winner last year and is a fine technique blocker. Mann has lettered at a guard position the last two years, but has the versatility and the size (6-5, 270) to play tackle. Jeff Lytton is listed as the starting center, even though he missed half the spring with a knee injury. He lettered as a backup last year behind Dale Swing.

The tight end slot will be manned by two-year letterman Jim Riggs. The junior from Laurinburg, NC was Clemson's top receiver in the spring scrimmages with 15 catches for 146 yards. He snared nine passes for 178 yards in the regular season last year. Dan Pearman, who caught one pass last year, provides backup strength at the position vacated by the loss of All-ACC player K.D. Dunn.

Danny Ford has three tailbacks that might start at any other school in the ACC and at most schools in the nation. Terrence Flagler, Stacey Driver and Kenny Flowers are really all number-one tailbacks in the Clemson system as Ford undoubtedly will keep a fresh horse at this key position. Flagler had the best all-around spring practice with 501 yards in 94 carries in the six scrimmages, but Driver had the best season last year with 627 yards to lead the team. Flowers had the best spring game performance of the threesome with 85 yards in just 10 carries and he also scored two touchdowns. Flowers played fullback last season, but has the speed (4.34 in the 40) to run with any tailback in the nation. Flip a coin at this position.

Ford has some fine talent at fullback as well. Rod Quick, a letterman who started the South Carolina game in place of Flowers last year, had the best spring of the fullbacks and is listed as the top player heading into the summer. George Smith, a 240-pound transfer from Texas A&M will push him hard, however, as will Henry Carter, one of just two first-year freshmen to letter with the Tigers last year. Carter caught six passes in the last two scrimmages to show his abilities as an all-around back.

Ford has one of the nation's top receivers in Terrance Roulhac. The ACC's leader in touchdown receptions with eight last year, Roulhac is a deep threat with excellent hands who can get open in any secondary. He had 26 catches overall last year and had 13 this past spring, including five in an excellent spring game performance. Ray Williams, who played baseball for Clemson this spring and did not take part in the off-season work, is a gifted all-around athlete who was second on the club in receptions last year with 23. He is already Clemson's number-two ranked player in kickoff return yardage on a career basis.

Pat Charleston and Shelton Boyer, who were both injured this spring, will also see considerable action this year in Ford's shuttle system for receivers. Charleston caught just three passes last year, but is a fine blocker, while Boyer, who fractured an ankle this year near the end of spring practice, had 12 receptions for 183 yards and a touchdown in 1984.

For the first time since the 1980 season Clemson did not have an experienced quarterback at spring practice. Mike Eppley, Clemson's all-time leader in touch-down passes and number-two ranked QB in terms of passing efficiency, has graduated. Randy Anderson and Rodney Williams had a long dogfight all spring.

"I would say Randy Anderson is our number-one quarterback coming out of spring practice based on his experience," said Ford. "He had a fine spring and has been through a red-shirt year and a year with the varsity. Rodney Williams has just been through one year as a red-shirt with the prep team. Randy showed fine improvement over the course of practice but Rodney had some bright moments also."

Anderson completed 53.3 percent of his passes in the spring, but he hit 27 of his last 38 over the last two scrimmages, including the spring game. The sophomore from Spartanburg, SC completed 17 of 26 for 167 yards in the Orange & White Game, then hit 10 for 12 in the last scrimmage of the year. Anderson threw just nine passes all last year and got into just two games. Williams, a red-shirted freshman from Irmo, SC, hit 36 of 71 passes over the course of the spring.

Kicking Game

Clemson became the first school in the history of the ACC to have both all-conference kickers last year as punter Dale Hatcher and placekicker Donald Igwebuike had phenomenal seasons. Hatcher was the number-one rated punter in the recent pro draft and Igwebuike led the nation in field goal percentage last year (16 of 17, .941).

The Tigers have converted 85 percent of their field goals over the last three seasons and this incredible consistency has been a major reason for Clemson's success. Andy Newell is the frontrunner at the punter position, he is the only Clemson kicker on the roster with any experience. Newell punted twice for an impressive 51-yard average last year.

Five different players booted field goals in scrimmages this spring as Danny Ford went through a laundry list of kickers looking for Igwebuike's replacement. Rusty Seyle had the most field goals with six in nine attempts, while Mark Gettys, a former Clemson soccer player, had four field goals. David Threadwell and Brian James are two other names to watch for this fall in the kicking department.

Clemson Defense (six starters return, 24 lettermen return)

A look at the top three teams on defense for Clemson in 1985 underscores the youth of this team. Out of the top nine interior linemen on the summer depth chart, six are freshmen and only one is a senior. In the secondary, Kenny Danforth stands alone as the only senior out of the top 12 defensive backs.

On paper the secondary has lost the most experience as three starters who combined to break up 37 passes in 1984 are gone. The triumvirate of Ty Davis, Ronald Watson and Reggie Pleasant was the major reason Clemson broke up a school-record 87 passes.

Danforth had an outstanding spring and is an all-star candidate for his senior season. He had 50 tackles last season from the strong safety position. He will be pushed by Norman Haynes, a speedy defensive player, and Carlon Box, who lettered at this position last season.

A.J. Johnson who might get this year's Larry Nance Award for coming out of the woodwork to stardom, should be the starting free safety. The walk-on led everyone in tackles in the spring game with 17. Bo Holloman, who had 10 tackles in the spring game, and Kevin Brady, who has played quarterback and cornerback at Clemson, will challenge Johnson.

Perry Williams and Delton Hall, a pair of juniors with four letters, but no career starts between them, should move into the front-line of defensive alignment this year. Williams and Hall both run the 40 in the 4.5 area and are tough hitters in the secondary.

The linebacker position is the deepest on the defensive side of the ball as players with seven letters return to man the two positions. Henry Walls, Keith Williams and Eldridge Milton are actually all considered starters for Clemson. They have something else in common ... they were all injured at one time or another last season. Milton was the healthiest at the end of the season and led the linebackers in tackles last year with 75. Walls, an All-ACC player two years ago as a freshman, had 70 stops last year and led the team in that category in 1983 with 93. Williams had knee problems much of last year and had 49 stops.

The reserves are strong also, led by Richard Burton and Duane Walker, both of whom had excellent springs. Burton led the team in tackles this past spring with 42, while Walker was right behind him with 30. Mike Jollay is another letterwinner with experience at linebacker.

Perhaps the most significant position change that Danny Ford examined this spring was Michael Perry's move to defensive end. A starter at tackle in 10 of the 11 games last year, Perry apparently has the quickness to move outside. "We will re-evaluate this move over the summer," said Danny Ford. "If we are a better football team with Michael Perry at defensive end, then that is where he will play. It also depends on how some of the incoming freshmen play next year."

Perry, brother of All-American Clemson middle guard William Perry, had a banner freshman year with Clemson freshman records 15 tackles for loss and seven quarterback sacks. He had 75 stops overall. Terence Mack, an all-conference candidate, should be the starting bandit end. The 6-3, 230-pound junior led the team in interceptions and contributed 73 tackles in 1984. He plays all over the field and had a fine spring with a team high five quarterback sacks and four passes broken up.

Steve Berlin is virtually the only veteran in the defensive line. The fifth-year senior is an all-star candidate from Pennsylvania who had 78 stops last season to rank third on the team. He also picked up nine tackles behind the line of scrimmage. Dwayne Meadows should start at right tackle. Now 25 pounds heavier than his 220 playing weight of his freshman year, the sophomore burst on the scene last year with 10 tackles and two sacks against Appalachian State in his first college game.

Mark Drag, Raymond Chavous, Richard McCullough and Ty Granger are all red-shirted freshmen who will have to learn by their mistakes this year. But, the consensus of opinion is that this might be the best class of freshmen defensive linemen in Clemson history. Drag is the frontrunner at middle guard after spring practice, while Chavous, a 290-pounder from the same area as William Perry, is backing him up. McCullough is a 250-pound tackle who had more tackles than any of the freshmen in spring practice, while Granger is a 255-pounder who had an excellent spring.

Terence Mack (#12) and Michael Perry (#91) give Clemson the best defensive end tandem in the ACC.

Keith Williams is a hard-hitting linebacker.

Coach Ford Comments

On Rebuilding This Clemson Team

"This season has to rank up there with 1980 as far as being a rebuilding season. We don't have an experienced quarterback returning, in 1980 we had Homer Jordan listed as a defensive back and Andy Headen as the quarterback along with Mike Gasque heading into the season. We were 6-5 that year and we don't want that to happen.

"We just don't have as many football players with experience at Clemson this year as we have had in recent seasons. This is a very young team and that means I don't know how they will react in game-type situations. That doesn't mean we aren't going to be good, it just means we will be inexperienced and we will have to work hard this year to get them some experience."

On the Defense

"We are short on experience in the secondary and in the defensive line. We lost three starters in the secondary and two in the front line, so we will have a lot of youngsters playing for us defensively.

"The only tackle here with considerable experience is Steve Berlin. Berlin needs to have a more consistent year this season. He needs to be a leader for these young linemen and show what it takes to be a good football player. He has the ability. Michael Perry had a good freshman year at tackle but we might put him on the end this year.

"Many young players will get the opportunity to play at middle guard and tackle for us. With William Perry gone some red-shirted freshmen will play an awful lot at middle guard and tackle positions.

"Terence Mack is an established player at the bandit end and I think he can have an all-conference season because of his all-around abilities.

"At linebacker we have players coming off injury-riddled seasons. We need to have a very healthy Henry Walls, that was not the case last season. Henry had a fine year two years ago, but knee problems slowed him down in 1984. He will give everything he can give, we know that. Eldridge Milton and Keith Williams are in the same situation. They are all good workers and this is one of our deepest areas on the team and the deepest on the defense.

"In the secondary we have players returning who saw action last year, but not as starters. Perry Williams has the most experience of the cornerbacks, but he has never started a game at Clemson. He wants to be a first-team player and he has a good attitude. Delton Hall and Steve Griffin both have experience playing for Clemson. Griffin will get a shot at cornerback. He is one of the players on this team we have to find a spot for because he is too good an athlete to hold out.

"We do have some safeties returning. Kenny Danforth started five games a year ago and Carlon Box looked good at times. A.J. Johnson is a walk-on we are hoping will improve. He had 17 tackles in the spring game and is a solid hitter, something we have had at that position in recent years."

On the Offense

"We have some talent back at wide receiver. Terrance Roulhac had an outstanding year last season and we think he is capable of repeating as an All-ACC player. We need depth at wide receiver because of our offensive system. Ray Williams missed the spring playing with the baseball team, but he has shown us what he can do in the last two seasons. He is needed as a kickoff return man in addition to his wide receiver position.

"We have made a lot of changes in the offensive line because we had to rebuild the whole line. We have lost five starters in the offensive line and that is the most I have ever lost at that area of a football team. We have moved a few players from defense to the offensive line to shore up the area (Tony Stephens, Chuck Sanford, John Jansen and John Phillips). We have a fine player at guard in Steve Reese, he is one of the best at that position in the nation. He really needs to be a leader in the offensive line."

"We need a quarterback to come through for us. We want Randy Anderson and Rodney Williams to become as good as Mike Eppley, but we know that will take a while. But we expect them to be better than Eppley by the time they graduate. That is the way it works, that is what you shoot for. Neither has performed in a hostile crowd before and that is something they will have to get with experience.

"The running back situation has a lot of good depth, but you never have enough running backs. We moved Kenny Flowers to the tailback slot to see how that works out. He had a good spring, but so did Flagler and Driver. Overall, we think we will have depth at tailback. George Smith and Henry Carter and Rodney Quick all give us good depth at fullback, but someone needs to come to the forefront."

On Motivational Aspects for 1985

"We are happy to go into 1985 with a chance to achieve what everyone else has a chance to achieve. But, if you don't win some games early, playing in a bowl game and competing for the conference championship and getting ranked won't matter. It is good to have the dream of achieving it before the season begins though and we have not even been able to have that dream in a few years.

"Our team might have been complacent about winning last year and that might have been the only good about the losing last year. Some teams wanted to win more than us last year. I think this team will be a good group to work with and I think they will be a highly motivated team. They can achieve whatever they want to achieve. If they want to work hard and go to a bowl game then they can do it."

On the Overall Look at the Team in 1985

"We have a lot of work to do, we have lost as many players as we did when I first came in 1978. I inherited a team that lost Steve Fuller, Jerry Butler, Jeff and Joe Bostic, about nine players who went to the NFL. but, we had some fine reserves who lettered that year, because so many played in games when the 1978 team had so many easy victories. This is not the case this year.

"We will have many new faces, that will be scary early in the season. I'll look out there and not see Mike Eppley, or William Perry or Dale Hatcher and I'll probably faint. But, the players we have we expect to come in and perform. We did a lot of coaching and teaching this spring. They all have a long way to go to reach their ability level, but we feel they have the natural talent to play as well as the players of the recent past."

Clemson football fans owe Auburn some favors. Each of the first four football coaches in Clemson history came from Auburn, including John Heisman, the Hall-of-Fame Coach who laid the groundwork for the Clemson football tradition in the early years of this century.

In contemporary times, Clemson fans owe Auburn another favor, stemming from a friendship between Danny Ford and Pat Dye. Ford, Clemson's head coach since the 1978 Gator Bowl, was a player under Dye when the latter was an assistant coach under Bear Bryant at Alabama. The two became good friends and it was Dye who convinced Ford to pursue the coaching profession.

"Pat Dye and I were good friends when I was in my senior year in college and I was wondering what I was going to do with my life," said Ford. "Coach Dye was the one who pushed me to ask Coach Bryant about a graduate assistantship. He put me on the staff and I have been in coaching ever since."

Clemson fans are certainly happy Ford entered the profession because he has brought a solid program to among the finest in the nation. Now in his seventh full season at Clemson, his record of 52-15-2 (.768) is the fourth best winning percentage in college football among active coaches.

Ford ranks only behind Barry Switzer of Oklahoma, Joe Paterno of Penn State and Tom Osborne of Nebraska in terms of winning percentage.

In the last four seasons Clemson has a 37-6-2 ledger, the fourth best winning percentage in America. The class of '84 was the third winningest in ACC history in terms of winning percentage, and no ACC class in the 32-year history of the league ever won more games in a four-year period.

Ford has been a part of three ACC championship teams and one national championship team at Clemson. In 1978 he was offensive coordinator for the 11-1 team that won the Gator Bowl over Ohio State, 17-15. The Gadsden, AL native was more than just the offensive coordinator in that game however, as he had become the head coach of the Tigers on December 10 after Charley Pell had already left to go to Florida. The 30-year-old Ford made quite a celebrated beginning to his head coaching career with that victory over the Woody Hayes coached Buckeyes. The nationally televised Clemson victory helped put the Tigers on the national football map and it began Clemson's climb to among the elite of college football.

In 1979, Ford's first full season as a head coach, he proved the victory in the Gator Bowl was no fluke as he took a team that had lost six players to the pros to an 8-4 record and another bowl game. Included in the eight wins in 1979 were a win at Notre Dame and a triumph over Georgia on the way to a Peach Bowl confrontation with Baylor.

Two years later Ford became the youngest coach in the history of the game to win the National Championship. At the age of 33, Ford surprised the college football world by taking the unranked Tigers to three wins over top 10 teams and a perfect 12-0 record. Clemson handed Herschel Walker the only regular-season loss of his Georgia career, downed North Carolina in Chapel Hill in the only showdown of top 10 teams in ACC history, then defeated former champion Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

The Ford family: Danny, Ashley, Elizabeth, Jennifer and Debra. A fourth child is on the way; Danny is due for a little linebacker.

That obviously is the highmark of Ford's brief, but eventful career at Clemson as he was named national Coach-of-the-Year by UPI, the College Football Writers of America, the Walter Camp Foundation and the Football Coaches of America.

Despite the loss of many excellent players off the National Championship team, Ford led Clemson to the ACC title in 1982 and a 9-1-1 record. The 1983 team also followed with a 9-1-1 record, giving Clemson a 30-2-2 ledger between 1981 and 1983, the best record in college football.

Last season Clemson continued many successful streaks, as Ford ran a record home unbeaten stretch to 25 games, and an ACC winning streak to 20 games. Ford gained his 50th win at Clemson with a victory over N.C. State in Raleigh. It was just Ford's 65th game in Tigertown, a record for an ACC coach for swiftness in reaching that victory plateau.

A review of Ford's football past should help us understand why he has been so successful as a head coach. Another in a long line of former Bear Bryant players that have gone on to greatness in coaching,

Ford played for the Bear between 1967 and 1969. He was Kenny Stabler's sophomore tight end as a starter in 1967, played that position in 1968 and moved to offensive tackle in 1969. Ford started all three years, was all-conference in 1969 and played on three teams that went to bowl games. In 1969 he was also a member of the All-SEC academic team, and served as the captain of the Alabama team.

After Dye's coaxing, Ford remained at Alabama as a graduate assistant for the 1970 and 1971 seasons. He had already earned his B.S. degree in industrial arts and earned his master's degree in special education in 1971. Ford became a full-time aide for Bryant in 1972 and 1973. The Tide went to four bowl games while Ford was an assistant coach.

Clemson's current head man then accepted a position as an assistant coach under Jimmy Sharpe at Virginia Tech. He remained in Blacksburg for three seasons (1974-76) before coming to Clemson as offensive line coach in 1977. And, just 23 games later he was named head coach of the Tigers at the age of 30, the youngest active division I coach in the country. Nearly 40 years after hiring 31-year-old Alabama graduate Frank Howard, Clemson had hired 30-year-old Alabama graduate Danny Ford.

Now 37 years old, Danny Ford is running out of mountains to climb. He has been associated with 18 college football teams as a player or coach through the years and 17 have had winning records and 11 have gone to bowl games. Additionally, those clubs have had a combined record of 148-53-5, a .731 winning percentage.

Few people climb to the top five of their profession by the age of 37. Pat Dye gave Danny Ford some sound advice back in 1969 and Clemson fans are glad he took it.

76 Steve Berlin

Defensive Tackle 6-5 275 *Senior Bethel Park, PA 2VL

At Clemson: Top returning tackler on the Clemson team, he had 78 stops in 1984 to rank third behind William Perry and Ronald Watson . . . played in Perry's shadow much of last year, he is now the veteran of the defensive line . . . with Michael Perry's move to defensive end, Berlin is one of just two returning letterwinners among the down linemen, so he will have to show senior leadership this season . . . one of seven defensive players to start all 11 games in 1984 . . . had nine tackles for loss last year, the 10th best tackle-for-loss total in the ACC . . . in his second season as a starter, but he saw a lot of action as a sophomore tackle in 1983 . . . excellent defender against the run, he has the ability to read the offense quickly . . . had the third most tackles for loss on the team last year with nine, but he had just two sacks, so his quickness at chasing down running backs on sweeps is apparent . . . combined with All-American William Perry to record a safety against Appalachian State last year, he has been in on both Clemson safeties over the last two years . . . also tackled N.C. State quarterback Tim Esposito for a safety in 1983 . . . had at least one tackle for loss in seven of the 11 games last season . . . finished among Clemson's top 10 tacklers in every game in 1984 an example of his consistency . . . had at least six tackles in every game but one last season, he did not see that much action in the blowout of Duke . . . had a season and career high of 11 tackles against North Carolina . . . had a very good game at Virginia as he had nine tackles, six of which were first hits and two tackles for loss, one a quarterback sack . . . also had eight tackles at Georgia and seven apiece against Wake Forest, Maryland and South Carolina . . . more than doubled his tackle total of his sophomore season . . . ran the 40 in 5.25 last winter, but has done 5.1 . . . has a bench-press figure of 325 . . . had 18 tackles, including three quarterback sacks (second on the team) in the scrimmages this past spring, he did not play that much in scrimmages in order to give the younger players experience . . . only senior on the first three teams in the defensive interior line.

In 1983: Showed great improvement in 1983 . . . played in all 11 contests and recorded 31 tackles, including five tackles for loss and two quarterback sacks . . . best game tacklewise came in the Georgia game when he had nine tackles and a quarterback sack for four yards . . . had two games where he recorded six tackles (Virginia and Wake Forest) . . . he also had a tackle for loss in those games . . . biggest contribution to a game came in the N.C. State contest when he trapped Wolfpack quarterback Tim Esposito for a safety on a 13-yard sack . . . against Duke he had a tackle for loss of four yards, but on the last drive, he forced Ben Bennett out of the pocket and forced him to throw on the run . . . that pass was knocked down by James Robinson and the Tigers were able to hold on for the win.

In 1982: Has gained almost 30 pounds since his freshman season . . . red-shirted in 1982.

In 1981: Served as reserve defensive tackle on National Championship team of 1981 behind Dan Benish . . . played in two contests that year and had a quarterback sack against Wake Forest but did not letter . . . also saw action against Virginia but did not record a tackle.

In High School: An honorable mention all-state selection from Bethel Park High School in Bethel Park, PA . . . named to the all-conference and All-Western Pennsylvania squads as well . . . his team went to the 1980 Western Pennsylvania 4A Playoffs and lost only once and that was in the championship game . . . a four-time letterman as a prepster, three in football and one in basketball . . . his father is the head trainer for the Pittsburgh Steelers . . . majoring in recreation and parks administration . . . born 11/20/62 in Indianapolis, IN.

One streak Clemson still has going is for consecutive wins over ACC teams in Memorial Stadium. Clemson has not lost a home conference game since November 8, 1980 when North Carolina beat Clemson, 24-19. Since then Clemson has won 14 straight over ACC teams in Death Valley, Clemson's longest winning streak of this kind in history. Clemson will play five conference games at home this season, only the second time in Clemson history that the Tigers have played that many conference home games in a season.

Clemson was ranked in the top 10 of nearly every preseason poll for 1984. The Associated Press poll is the oldest of the polls and Clemson has been ranked in the preseason poll for the AP nine times. The Tigers had a number-four rating for the preseason in 1984, the highest preseason rating ever for a Tiger team. Clemson's only other preseason top 10 ranking came in 1960 when the AP had Clemson rated number-nine. Clemson finished with a 6-4 record in 1960, so it is not always advantageous to have a high preseason ranking. A case in point is the 1981 Clemson season. The Tigers were not ranked in the preseason top 10 of any poll that year, yet won the National Championship at season's end. Clemson's other preseason top 20 years have been 1958, 1959, 1960, 1961, 1963, 1967, 1978 and 1982.

Most Clemson fans and every Virginia fan know that the Tigers have never lost to Virginia in football. With Clemson's 55-0 win last year it ran the streak to 24 straight in favor of the Tigers. That 24-game streak is now the longest active streak for one team over another in the nation. When West Virginia defeated Penn State last year in Morgantown, it ended a streak of 25 straight losses by West Virginia to the Nittany Lions. That streak covered 28 years. Clemson's streak over Virginia dates back to 1955.

Times certainly change when it comes to football strategy. Between 1948 and 1955 the Clemson football team did not kick a field goal. That is right, seven straight years and part of another without one field goal. Over the last five years Clemson has kicked 89 field goals out of 114 attempts. Having Obed Ariri, Bob Paulling and Donald Igwebuike around has been the major reason. Clemson is 89-114 since the 1980 season in the field goal department, a .781 figure. Last season Clemson was 17-18 in booting field goals, an all-time record for percentage in a season. Igwebuike kicked 16 of 17 for a .941 figure, the best percentage in America for kickers with more than 15 attempts. Paulling holds the career school record for percentage with 34 of 41 successful between 1979 and 1983, while Ariri made the most in a season and a career. The native of Nigeria was 63 of 97 for his career and 23 for 30 in 1980. He led the nation in field goals in 1980. All three were with pro teams this summer.

For some reason Clemson has a jinx when it comes to kickoff returns for a touchdown. The last time Clemson returned a kickoff for a touchdown, none of the current Clemson players were even born. Hal Davis is the last Tiger to return a kickoff for a touchdown and it happened against Georgia on October 13, 1962. Davis brought it back 98 yards for a score. Since then no Tiger has gone all the way, yet Clemson has had some outstanding return men. Ray Williams was 11th in the nation in kickoff returns two years ago. Since Davis' return in 1962 Clemson has returned exactly 750 kickoffs without going all the way for a touchdown.

Bobby Robinson

Few Athletic Directors in the country have moved up the ladder as fast as Bobby Robinson. This past March the 39-year-old native of Columbia culminated a 12-year steady progression up the administrative steps to the position of Clemson Athletic Director. He succeeded Bill McLellan on Friday, March 8, 1985.

Robinson came to Clemson in 1970, not in athletics, but in the housing office. After three years he moved across campus to serve as an administrative assistant in the athletic department. "I started at Clemson in the housing office, but I came to Clemson to work in athletics," said Robinson. "No opening existed at the time so I had to wait until one opened up."

After serving the athletic department in every imaginable manner, he became business manager in 1975. Two years later he was named assistant athletic director and in 1980 he became associate AD. He held that title four years, but his responsibility moved to an area of strength in regard to the football and basketball programs in 1982.

While serving his administrative duties with vigor, he also coached the Clemson golf team between 1975 and 1983. During his time as the head coach Clemson won its only ACC title in golf and three times the Tigers participated in the NCAA tournament. In 1983, his final season as the head coach, he guided Clemson to a number-five national finish. Clarence Rose was one of three All-Americans to play for the Tigers during his tenure. Rose is now a successful member of the pro tour.

Thus, it is easy to see why Bobby Robinson is most qualified for the position of athletic director at Clemson University—he has done it all. He has been an administrator at all levels, he has worked in other areas in the University, he has been a head coach and he has handled the budgetary aspects needed to run an 8.5 million dollar program.

All of these factors have allowed him to come to grips with what is necessary to be a leader of a national program such as the one at Clemson. "Our philosophy will always be the same. We're going to be as good as we can be and give our coaches and athletes the opportunity to compete and be successful. That is the primary goal from an athletic point of view.

"From the University point of view, we have to be as good as we can be, yet operate within the rules and be a force within this University. As long as we are within the University structure, we do report to people and we are not different from anybody else—we can be a very positive factor for this University. Our importance is no bigger than that of the English or math department."

Robinson has confidence in his staff, his athletes and the facilities at Clemson University.

"We have a solid base in all areas and we are a very solvent athletic department. But, we need to get better, take everything that we have and broaden it. We can't stand still. We will look ahead within the framework of the University and work to expand our horizons. We want to be as good as we can be and be a vital part of this University and represent the State of South Carolina in a positive manner."

Robinson was born in Columbia and attended A.C. Flora High School. During his high school career he was a point guard for the basketball team and a third baseman in baseball. He also played a good bit of golf during his younger days and was a scratch golfer at one time. He did not play any high school sports as a senior because of a heat stroke suffered in the summer of 1963. He graduated from A.C. Flora in 1964 and enrolled at Furman.

Robinson graduated from Furman with a B.S. degree in business and political science in 1968. He was a member of the varsity golf team and was the president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity chapter at Furman. He worked in his family's real estate business for two years after receiving his degree from Furman.

Bobby Robinson has served Clemson in all areas. He coached the golf team to an ACC Championship in 1982 and a number-five national finish in 1983.

Dwight Rainey is one of a handful of people who have served Clemson as a coach and as a top administrator. He has actually had three different titles with the Clemson athletic department in the last three years as he has been promoted swiftly since retiring from coaching after the 1982-83 basketball season.

Rainey is in his first full academic year as associate athletic director. The native of Clarkston, GA handles all scheduling, basketball travel, summer camps and budgets and oversees all activities for Clemson's "high profile" non-revenue sports program. He also supervises the activities of the strength training facility and the equipment room.

Rainey has done an outstanding job for the non-revenue sports program at Clemson, keeping Tiger teams in the national spotlight. Now in his third year as an assistant athletic director overseeing these 15 programs, Clemson has been in the top 15 in the nation in the Knoxville Journal All-Sports Poll in each of those years.

Rainey, 40, came to Clemson's administration from the basketball office, where he served as Bill Foster's top assistant for eight years. While with the basketball program, Rainey was responsible for recruiting, scheduling, on-the-floor instruction and administrative tasks. Clemson's basketball schedule was ranked among the top 25 hardest schedules in the country while Rainey was in charge of that task.

During his eight seasons as a Clemson assistant basketball coach Clemson advanced to the NIT three times and the NCAA tourney once. Clemson reached the final eight of the NCAA in 1980. Clemson won 20 games in three of these eight seasons Rainey was an assistant coach.

Rainey was the first assistant hired by Bill Foster upon his appointment at Clemson. He spent nearly a third of his life working with Foster as a player or a coach, as he played for Foster at Shorter College in Georgia and also coached under Foster at UNC-Charlotte. He never really planned on being a coach, but he decided to join Foster in August of 1970 at UNCC and he stayed in the profession for 13 years. But, when an opening developed in the Clemson administration, he jumped at the chance.

Rainey has a fine business background as he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration from Shorter in 1967. He then earned a master's degree in business from UNC-Charlotte in 1971. Between 1967 and August of 1970 he worked as an executive for the wholesale financing division of the Chrysler Corporation in Atlanta, GA.

Rainey was an outstanding athlete during his high school and college days. He prepped at Clarkston (Ga.) High School where he was a standout athlete, earning letters in basketball, baseball, and golf. He earned a spot on the Georgia All-Star basketball team and led the South squad with a 16-point performance to walk away with the most valuable player honors.

His performance earned him a scholarship at Shorter College (Rome, Ga.) where his association with Foster began. During his stay at Shorter, he paced the Hawks to a 94-23 slate and was a Converse All-America selection as a senior. He was ranked as the eighth-best free throw shooter in the country as a senior.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Clemson will certainly miss punter Dale Hatcher this season. In his four years at Clemson he had a career net punting figure over 40 yards a punt and had the school's highest career punting average, 42.7. He was a man of consistency as he averaged over 40 yards a punt in 33 of the 44 games he played in, including 10 of 11 last year. He is the only punter in Clemson history to average over 40 yards a punt in four different seasons and he was ranked in the top 20 in the nation three of his four years. Hatcher was the first kicker taken in the NFL draft last year, as he went to the Los Angeles Rams in the third round.

Len Gough is in his first year as associate athletic director at Clemson, but he has been working with the athletic department for nearly 10 years. The son of a 1952 Clemson graduate, the University has been a major part of his life since he came to Clemson as a student in 1970.

Gough graduated from Clemson in 1974 with a Bachelor's Degree in textile technology. The native of Columbia, SC began work at Clemson as an assistant equipment manager after graduation, he had been a student football manager during his undergraduate days. He was also a member of Tiger Brotherhood and was the President of Block C, Clemson's lettermen association. By 1976 he was named head equipment manger and was already supervisor for over $1.5 million in inventory and was in charge of the purchase, maintenance and issuance of all athletic equipment. He also coordinated football and basketball trips, devised the lettermen's award system and designed the 1981 National Championship ring.

In July of 1982 Gough became assistant executive secretary of IPTAY. He assisted in the total fund-raising area, supervised the sales of executive suites in Memorial Stadium, served as game manager for all basketball games and coordinated all tournaments in all sports hosted by Clemson.

In November of 1984 Gough became an assistant athletic director for promotions and media relations. This past March he was promoted to the position of associate athletic director. In this position Gough supervises all promotions and media relations, supervises the SID office, coordinates spirit groups, oversees the administration of the executive suites in Memorial Stadium, and handles the radio and television contracts for Tiger football and basketball.

Gough, a graduate of Chester High School in Chester, SC, is married to the former Jane Price of Greenwood, SC.

VAN HILDERBRAND, Assistant Athletic Director

Van Hilderbrand, who has served the Clemson athletic department for nine years, is in his first year as an assistant athletic director. He will be in charge of the ticket office and supervise all parking administration in his new capacity.

A man who has come up through the ranks, Hilderbrand is well prepared for this position. He started his association with the athletic department as a student employee in the ticket office during his college career, 1970-74. In 1976 he filled the newly created position of assistant ticket manager and in 1980 he was named University ticket manager. In April of this past year he was named assistant athletic director by Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Demand for tickets to Clemson athletic events is at an all-time high, and it is Hilderbrand's responsibility to distribute these tickets to the thousands who attend the games. Hilderbrand and his staff sell twice as many football season tickets as any other school in the ACC and admitted the nation's seventh largest crowd for the 1984 football season. Basketball season's tickets should reach an all-time high this year with the improvement in Tiger basketball last year.

In the six years since Hilderbrand took the job as ticket manager, he has distributed more season tickets than ever before for football and basketball. He has met the challenge by keeping up with the technology of the profession. This year Clemson will utilize a computerized ticket system for the first time.

The clamor for tickets has risen as Clemson's athletic teams have continued to win and Hilderbrand has continually met the challenge of finding places for both fans and students to sit. Hilderbrand also had the added challenge of handling requests for tickets in the new 15,000-seat addition to Memorial Stadium in 1983.

Hilderbrand worked as athletic supervisor for the Greenwood Recreation Department for two years after graduation, and in 1976, he returned to Clemson as assistant ticket manager. Three years later, he was named ticket manager.

Hilderbrand graduated from Clover (SC) High School in 1970, and earned his degree in parks and recreation administration from Clemson in 1974. The 33-year-old is married to the former Diane Harris of Clover and they have one son, Van Jr., who was born December 31, 1979, the day Clemson met Baylor in the Peach Bowl in Atlanta, GA.

FRED HOOVER, Assistant Athletic Director, Head Athletic Trainer

One of the most rapidly changing areas in athletics is the field of sports medicine, and keeping Clemson on the frontier is Fred Hoover. Now in his 27th year as head trainer for the Tigers, the 54-year-old Hoover is responsible for the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of injuries to Clemson's athletes. In addition, Hoover, who was named assistant athletic director in the summer of 1983, is responsible for purchasing of athletic equipment, supervising the medical staff, making travel arrangements, and directing the training table.

A native of Jacksonville, FL, Hoover graduated with a BS degree in physical education from Florida State in 1953. He served as trainer at his alma mater for two stints, 1952-53 and from 1957-58, before coming to Clemson in 1959.

Professionally, "Doc" Hoover has held just about every administrative post with the National Athletic Trainers Association, including national president, and he is an affiliate member of the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine. In 1981, Hoover was enshrined in the Citizens Savings-Helms Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame for his work. In the spring of 1982, he was named a consultant to the South Carolina Medical Association—Medical Aspects of Sports Committee. He is also a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame, and is currently president of the South Carolina Trainers Association.

In 1983 Hoover was the recipient of the Distinguished Service to Sports Medicine Award. The honor is given by the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine.

Hoover is married to the former Elva Cook of Mt. Vernon, IL, and the Hoovers have two children — Catherine, a 1980 Clemson graduate who is married, and Bryan, a senior at Clemson.

BOB BRADLEY, Sports Information Director

The last few years have seen Clemson athletics rise to a new position of public awareness, and keeping the Tigers in the minds of media and the public alike is the job of Bob Bradley. A recognized leader in his profession, Bradley has received every conceivable award and has become one of the most respected men in the sports information field. Bradley is now in his 31st year as Clemson's sports information director.

The knowledgeable and personable Bradley was elected president of CoSIDA, the national organization of sports information directors, during 1974-75. He received the Arch Ward Award as CoSIDA Man-of-the-Year in 1976 and he was also elected by his peers to the organization's Hall of Fame.

Under Bradley's direction, the Clemson Sports Information Department has won a total of 50 national and state awards for their brochures and press guides in the last 10 years. During 1979-80, Clemson won nine awards for its work, which was the second highest total among Division I schools that year. The SID office won six awards each in 1980-81 and 1982-83 and garnered a total of nine in 1981-82. Included in the nine awards in 1981-82 were six national award-winning press guides, more than any other school in the country. Last year the Clemson football guide was ranked fourth nationally, after a second-place finish in 1983.

Several student assistants who worked under Bradley have gone on to full-time positions in the sports information field, an indication of Bradley's dedication to sports information. Additionally, he was honored in 1983 by the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame for his special contributions to athletics.

During his college days at Clemson, Bradley was the editor of The Tiger, the student newspaper. In addition to his task of being editor and sports editor of that weekly publication, Bradley also worked for the Greenville News-Piedmont on both a full- and part-time basis. Bradley graduated from Clemson in 1951 with a BS degree in textile manufacturing. He served in the Air Force for four years.

The 60-year-old Bradley was born in Randleman, NC, and is a graduate of Greenville (SC) Senior High. Bradley is married to the former Louise Madewell of Dallas, TX, and they have two children, Dorma, who is married and has one child, Amanda, and Robert, sports editor for the Valdosta (GA) Daily Times.

ROBERT RICKETTS, Business Manager

Robert Ricketts is in his first year with the Clemson Athletic Department, but he is no stranger to Clemson. He is actually going into his 10th year of employment with the University. As business manager, Ricketts will primarily handle all purchasing and expense accounts.

Ricketts is well qualified for the business manager position as he has been on the other side of the fence for nine years at Clemson. Between 1976 and 1985 Ricketts worked for the auditing and accounting departments at Clemson and one of his major duties was the audit for the athletic department. He worked in the University's financial management division in accounting control and payroll benefits between 1976 and 1977, then worked in the internal auditing division as an auditor between 1977 and 1980. In 1980 he was named an audit supervisor, a position he held until February of this year.

Ricketts earned an Associate of Arts degree from Anderson College in 1969, and a business administration degree from Erskine College in 1971. He is also a 1967 graduate of T. L. Hanna High School in Anderson. After his graduation from Erskine, he entered merchandise management with the J. C. Penney Company of Greenville and Anderson. He worked for that company between 1972 and 1976, until he began his career with the University on May 28, 1976.

The native of Anderson has also completed the College of Business Management at the University of Kentucky and is a member of the Institute of Internal Auditors. He is also a charter member of the Pendleton Sertoma Club and has served as secretary of the Clemson Recreation Advisory Committee for five years.

Ricketts and his wife, Kathey, have two children, Chesley (7) and Lindsey (3). Kathey is employed in the payroll and insurance office at Clemson University.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Clemson certainly gets up at home, the 25-game home unbeaten streak during the 1981 to 1984 era is testimony to that. Over the years Clemson has a 23-3-2 record at home when over 60,000 people are in the stands. South Carolina ended that streak last year with the 22-21 Gamecock win in the season finale. That was South Carolina's first win at Clemson since the 1970 season.

BOBBY DOUGLAS, Equipment Manager

Making sure that Clemson's athletic teams dress as well as they play is the responsibility of Equipment Manager Bobby Douglas. Douglas takes great pride in the appearance of the Tigers on game days and he also strives to insure the players' safety by keeping the equipment in good working order. Douglas is also responsible for the associated athletic equipment such as footballs, basketballs, baseball bats, and track hurdles.

Douglas assumed his present job on July 16, 1982, when former equipment manager Len Gough was named assistant executive secretary of IPTAY. Douglas had served as the assistant equipment manager since December 1978.

Packing and planning for extended road trips has become one of Douglas' specialties, as the Clemson football team went to four bowls in a period of five years and in 1982, traveled to Tokyo, Japan for the Mirage Bowl. The Tiger basketball team is also a frequent traveler, as the team regularly makes trips to Christmas tournaments.

Douglas, born on September 9, 1955, is a 1974 graduate of Toms River High school in New Jersey. He ran cross country, indoor and outdoor track and was a three-year letterman in each sport. He came to Clemson on a track scholarship and ran with the team his freshman year. He went into managing at Clemson as a student in his junior year. During his sophomore year he served as co-sports editor of The Tiger, the Clemson student newspaper.

Douglas, a native of Montclair, NJ, received his bachelor's degree in industrial education from Clemson in December of 1978 and became assistant equipment manager almost immediately.

GARY WADE, Strength Coach

Gary Wade, a veteran of five NFL seasons with the Detroit Lions, is Clemson's strength and conditioning coach. The native of Nebraska joined the Clemson staff on January 11 of 1985 so he is in his first full football season with the Clemson athletic department. Wade heads up the program for all 18 sports at Clemson.

Wade brings a lot of experience in the field with him to Clemson. He served as an assistant strength coach at Nebraska for three years as an undergraduate and graduate student. He earned his undergraduate degree in education in 1978 and worked on his master's in exercise physiology until 1979.

In 1980 he became the Detroit Lions' first strength and conditioning coach. The 29-year-old received much credit for the Lions' immediate improvement as Monte Clark took pride in Wade's work and the results on the field. Wade instituted many motivational awards during his tenure in Detroit as he converted the Lions' training system from machines to free weights.

During his five years with the Lions the club finished second three times in the central division and won the NFC central in 1983. The Lions made the playoffs twice during this time period.

Wade, who was born in Nebraska City, NE, earned 10 letters in high school at Weeping Water High. He was all-conference in football for three seasons and was second-team all-state his senior year. He did not play football at Nebraska.

DON WADE, Administrative Assistant

Handling the day-to-day administrative tasks that result from a successful football program is the job of Don Wade. Now in his third year since rejoining the Tigers, Wade is responsible for making certain that the operations of the football team go as smoothly as their performance on the field.

Since coming back to Tigertown, Wade's contributions have been tremendous. One of his main tasks is the coordination of recruiting efforts, a necessity in any successful athletic program. Not only is he in charge of the official visits of high school prospects, but he handles mass mailings of all recruiting publications and provides timely information to coaches who are on the road. As if that wasn't enough to keep one person busy, he serves as the liaison to pro scouts and as an administrator to the highly successful football camp.

Wade is certainly no stranger to Clemson. After spending four years as a linebacker for the Tigers, he received his bachelors degree in education in 1952. He then spent a year as an assistant coach at Waynesboro High School in Georgia before returning to Clemson for 15 seasons on the football staff.

In 1968, Wade left Clemson to become head football coach at Tennessee Tech, and in 1974, he was also named that school's athletic director. On March 1, 1983, he returned to his alma mater and assumed his present position.

Wade, who was born in Tyronza, AR and attended high school in Lenoir City, TN, is married to the former Barbara Henderson of Clemson. The Wades have two daughters, Donna and Beth, and one son, Clint. In addition, they have four grandchildren.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Clemson has been one of the most consistent teams in the nation in terms of scoring offense over the last few years, or since Danny Ford has been at Clemson. Last year the Tigers were ranked ninth in the nation in scoring offense, averaging about 32 points per game. Clemson scored at least 17 points in every game last year and has now scored at least 15 points in 32 straight games. Clemson has not been held under 15 points since the opener of the 1982 season when Georgia stopped Clemson 13-7 in Athens. Maryland is the last team to hold Clemson under double figures at home, they did it in a 19-0 Terp win in 1979. Since Danny Ford has been at Clemson his Tigers have scored in double figures in 65 of 69 games and have scored at least 20 points in 42 games. Maryland has held Clemson under double figures two of the four times in the Danny Ford era.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Clemson also had an incredible streak for day games over the last few years. The Tigers had a 31-game day-game unbeaten streak come to an end at Georgia last year. Between 1981 and 1984 Clemson had a 29-0-2 record by day. When Georgia beat Clemson in Athens last year it ended the streak, dating back to a 34-7 loss at Maryland in November of 1980.

Clemson's Conference Affiliations over the years:

1894-1920	Charter member of SIAA
1921-1953	Charter member of Southern Conference
1953-present	Charter member of Atlantic Coast Conference

IPTAY, in its 52nd year as Clemson's athletic scholarship fund-raising club has continued on its long and successful journey. From a modest beginning in 1934 with only 162 members, IPTAY has grown to include 20,000 loyal Tiger supporters. IPTAY, "I-Pay-Thirty-A-Year," is recognized as the number-one group of its kind in the country.

During the 1984-85 academic year, IPTAY continued to grow and expand with the addition of three features. The IPTAY Athletic Academic Endowment was established during the fall of 1984 for recruiting scholarships for academics. The basic principle behind the endowment is that money donated by matching gift companies is earmarked for a separate scholarship just for academics.

IPTAY also introduced the Tiger Life program in late 1984. With Tiger Life, the Clemson IPTAY Club is the owner and beneficiary of a whole life insurance policy on a participant's life. The contributor makes comparatively small annual gifts for a maximum of eight years. Contributions go directly to Clemson University Tiger Life and all donations to Clemson and IPTAY are, of course, tax deductible. With this program, the member creates a sizable capital asset without impinging on the funds destined for his family. In effect, it creates a $100,000 endowment fund in the contributor's name.

During the past year IPTAY also adopted the Orange and White as the official publication of IPTAY. The Orange and White, which is published weekly from mid-August to March and monthly during April, June and July, began exclusive distribution to 20,000 IPTAY members in early September.

Listed above are just three features that IPTAY has implemented in order to continually attain new heights of success. But, the determining factor that has allowed IPTAY to flourish for over 50 years, is the undying dedication of its members.

The reason is people—people who are committed to a successful program at Clemson University, both on and off the field. Professors, athletes, administrators, managers, trainers, alumni, and friends all play a part in this success. The results which have been produced are something Clemson people can all be proud of in this search for excellence at Clemson University.

The on-going search for excellence in the academic area at Clemson University has resulted in the awarding of the 1984 Fulbright Scholarship for graduates to study overseas to six of six Clemson applicants. In addition, a Guggenheim Scholarship was awarded to another Clemson graduate. Of the 320 valedictorians in South Carolina 120 were accepted to Clemson University. Furthermore, a building program is being instituted on campus that will include a new chemistry building, as well as the expansion of several other departments.

That search for excellence is further exemplified by the efforts of the 20,000 IPTAY members who contributed $118,000 more in 1984. These monies enabled over 440 athletes, managers, and trainers to receive scholarship aid to attend Clemson.

These athletes also have the strong commitment to excellence that Clemson supporters both deserve and desire. The Tiger football team has the fourth best four-year record in college football. In December 1984, the soccer team became the school's second national champion by defeating defending champion Indiana. Soccer, men's cross country, women's cross country, men's tennis and women's tennis were all Top 20 teams, while the men's and women's tennis teams were conference champions. Swimming and wrestling enjoyed their best seasons ever. There were 19 All-Americans and 60 all-conference performers competing for Clemson, in addition to six athletes that took part in the Olympics. There is no doubt that Clemson athletics enjoyed one of its best years ever.

IPTAY certainly was a major reason for these accomplishments. But, what is IPTAY other than scholarships? And how has Clemson University benefited from these 51 years of service? The Clemson IPTAY Club has a board of directors led by President Lawrence Starkey, Vice President Jim Patterson, and Secretary-Treasurer Eddie Dalton.

Under the direction of these men, the main purpose of IPTAY continues to be raising monies for athletic scholarships, and thanks to the foresight of athletic department officials and the support of the Board of Directors, many improvements have taken place on campus which are of benefit not only to athletes and fans of athletes, but to the academic area of the University as well.

Specific areas of improvement in recent years include installing lights on Riggs Field; building a new baseball facility (with lights that were added this spring); funding Tiger Band travel; donating over $200,000 to the President's Fund; and developing the East Beach area enjoyed by all Clemson students.

The attitude of Clemson people, especially those associated with IPTAY, is "success is a journey, not a destination." The search for excellence continues at Clemson and, thanks to the continued support of 20,000 IPTAY supporters, the excellence in athletics will continue. As IPTAY continues its service to Clemson, one may only wonder what the future holds.

After 23 consecutive years of record-breaking support, there is no doubt that Clemson will remain number-one.

ALLISON DALTON
Executive Secretary of IPTAY

Allison Dalton is in his first full academic year as the leader of America's number-one athletic scholarship fundraising organization. Dalton took over the position in March of 1985 after serving as promotions director for four years and assistant athletic director for media relations and marketing for two years.

The well-rounded administrator raised money from an advertising standpoint at Clemson in his previous six years for publications, scoreboard advertising and with the Clemson Orange Aids marketing program. Now he raises money for athletic scholarships and other areas for the athletic department. Last year he helped continued IPTAY's consecutive year streak for increase in fund-raising.

During his tenure, Dalton was responsible for getting the Tiger Paw and other Clemson logos copyrighted, which has eliminated any unauthorized use of the symbols. He also supervised the highly successful Orange Aids marketing program.

Dalton, who earned both his bachelor's (1960) and master's (1964) from Clemson in industrial management, served as state campaign coordinator for U.S. Senator Strom Thurmond for a year prior to becoming manager of the Clemson House Hotel, a capacity he served in until coming to the athletic department in the fall of 1979.

After receiving his undergraduate degree, he served two years in the U.S. Army as assistant printing control officer at Fort Bliss, TX, and he was discharged as a first lieutenant. Following his master's degree, Dalton was a management trainee and staff assistant for Karastan Mills for two years and was then in partnership with his brother in the furniture and carpet business.

Dalton is married to the former Carolyn Jones of Pickens, SC, and the Daltons are the parents of two children, Brett (4-10-66) and CeCe (6-8-68).

BERT HENDERSON
Associate Executive Secretary of IPTAY

After a coffee break with the Clemson Alumni Association, Bert Henderson has returned to the athletic department for the 1985-86 academic year. Henderson is Clemson's new associate executive secretary of IPTAY, a position he accepted this past April. He had served the athletic department as a trainer between 1978 and 1984 before moving to the Alumni Association for the 1984-85 academic year.

Henderson has been affiliated with Clemson since 1978, when he came to Clemson as a graduate assistant trainer. He began full-time employment under Fred Hoover in 1980 and served as basketball trainer during the 1983-84 season. He served in that capacity until October of 1984. He handled all travel and a wide majority of administrative tasks for the Clemson basketball program.

In November of 1984 Henderson moved across campus as an alumni officer. He performed many public relations and management functions for that department.

His central duties as associate director of IPTAY concern the Tiger Life Insurance Program. This insurance program is designed to create an endowment for the entire Clemson athletic department. Henderson will also be involved with the organization of Clemson club programs and the Tiger Tailgate Show on the Clemson radio network.

Henderson is a 1978 graduate of Mars Hill College. He earned a master's degree from Clemson in 1980 in administration and supervision. He is married to the former Lee Ann Hudson.

The success of IPTAY has enabled Clemson to have one of the finest strength training facilities in the country.

History

The death on April 6, 1888, of Thomas Green Clemson set in motion a series of events which marked the start of a new era in higher education in the State of South Carolina — especially the future of scientific higher education in agriculture and the engineering sciences.

Mr. Clemson's passing set the stage for the founding of the university which bears his name — the beginning of a true "people's university" which opened the doors of higher education to all South Carolinians, rich and poor alike. Mr. Clemson, son-in-law of South Carolina's famous statesman, John C. Calhoun, was a prominent scientist of his time who was especially interested in scientific agriculture.

Mr. Clemson had a lifelong interest in farming and agriculture affairs. He served as the country's superintendent of agriculture affairs (predecessor to the present secretary of agriculture position), and actively promoted the establishment and endowment of the Maryland Agricultural College in the 1850s.

He once wrote, "The only hope we have for the advancement of agriculture (in the U.S.) is through the sciences and yet there is not one single institution on this continent where a proper scientific education can be obtained." Although he never lived to see it, his dedicated efforts culminated in the founding of Clemson Agricultural College.

Mr. Clemson provided in his will that the Fort Hill plantation and a considerable sum from his personal assets be used to establish an educational institution of the kind he envisioned. He left a cash endowment of about $80,000 and his Fort Hill estate of 814 acres to the State of South Carolina for its establishment.

The initial expense of creating an agricultural college, which had been one of the biggest obstacles to the project, was removed by the Clemson gift.

In November 1889, Governor Richardson signed the bill accepting Thomas Clemson's bequest. Following this, a measure was introduced to establish the Clemson Agricultural College, with its trustees becoming custodians of Morrill Act and Hatch Act funds made available for agricultural education and research purposes by federal legislative acts.

Clemson College formally opened in July 1893 with an enrollment of 446. From the beginning the college was an all-male military school. It remained this way until 1955, when the change was made to "civilian" status for students and Clemson became a coeducational institution.

University Governance

The University is governed by a board of 13 members, including six elected by the state legislature and seven self-perpetuating life members, in accord with the will of Thomas G. Clemson. The board is primarily responsible for setting policy and approving budgets and expenditures. The University's day-to-day operations are administered by its president; vice president for academic affairs, business and finance, student affairs, and institutional advancement; and the president's executive staff.

Campus

The University campus, located on the former plantation of statesman John C. Calhoun, consists of 1,400 acres and represents an insured value of approximately $332 million in academic and administrative buildings, student, staff and faculty housing, athletic and service facilities, and equipment. While offering excellent modern facilities, the University retains its air of tradition through such landmarks as Fort Hill, the home of the Calhouns and Clemsons, Tillman Hall with its clock tower, the statue of Thomas Clemson and the Outdoor Theater.

The campus is surrounded by 20,860 acres of University farms and woodlands devoted to research in forestry, agriculture and agricultural engineering. In addition, 10,447 acres throughout the state are devoted to Agricultural Experiment Station research and 4-H Club work, for a total of 31,307 real estate acres.

Other Facts

- The average SAT score of Clemson freshmen in 1984 (1,014) was the highest of any public college or university in South Carolina. That's 216 points above the average S.C. score, and 121 points above the national average.

- 45% of the entering freshman class of 1983 graduated in the top 10% of their high school classes; 70% in the top 20%; and 84% in the top 30%. The mean grade-point ratio for their high school academic work was 3.38.

- Clemson has awarded nearly 55,000 diplomas in its 92-year history; Clemson's first graduate was Charles Carter Newman, who graduated in June 1895 by special permission of the faculty. The first commencement wasn't until December 1896.

- Clemson has 950 faculty members, and three-quarters of them (74%) hold Ph.D. degrees in their chosen fields. They have published 350 books, and written more than 20,000 papers, articles and addresses.

- Clemson is one of the most popular schools in the Southeast for high school seniors. While other schools have to heavily recruit students to fill up empty dorms and classroom spaces, Clemson has had to turn away students. In 1984 the University received 7,783 applications for new student enrollment for only 2,500 spots.

- Among the many distinguished recipients of honorary degrees from the University are syndicated columnist Jenkin Lloyd Jones; architect R. Buckminster Fuller; Wall Street financier Bernard Baruch; nuclear physicist Edward Teller; and U.S. Senator Strom Thurmond.

- Clemson's College of Engineering is the state's largest and leads in degree production, size of faculty and research expenditures. It's the university's most popular curriculum today. With almost 3,500 students, engineering majors make up one-third of the undergraduate student body.

- Clemson's Computer Center operates one of the largest time-sharing networks in the world, and Clemson students have more and better access to computing power than students at most American universities.

A three-man team with 21 years of broadcasting Clemson football collectively, will man the microphones for the 1985 season. Jim Phillips, the voice of the Tigers, Tim Bourret and Clyde Wrenn will describe Clemson football this season on the 60-station network across the Carolinas and Georgia. This will be the third season of this three-man team on Clemson broadcasts.

Phillips, long one of the most respected and knowledgeable broadcasters in the South, is in his 18th year of describing the play-by-play action of Clemson football and basketball. The native of Youngstown, OH has described 186 Clemson football games and 475 Clemson basketball games in his career. His voice is synonymous with Clemson athletic events.

The Clemson radio network is produced out of the flagship station of WFBC radio in Greenville, SC where Phillips is the sports director. A man truly on the go, Phillips is also the voice of the Greenville Braves, an Atlanta Braves AA franchise in the Southern League. He is broadcasting one of the three major sports 12 months a year with the first two weeks of spring constituting his only free time over the last two years.

Despite the busy schedule, Phillips is regarded as one of the most dependable, in addition to accurate and entertaining broadcasters in the business. Testimony to his reliability took place during the 1982-83 academic year. In the fall of that year he had a back injury that required disc surgery. The surgery took place just five days prior to the Western Carolina game, but he was on the scene at Clemson Memorial Stadium as he broadcast the game standing up with a walker.

That same year Phillips saw his streak of consecutive basketball broadcasts snapped at an incredible 386. The streak was not snapped because of injury, however, it was stopped because he could not be at two places at the same time. The Clemson basketball team was in Alaska at the Great Alaska Shootout and the Clemson football team was in Japan participating in the Mirage Bowl against Wake Forest trying to clinch an ACC championship. Phillips opted for the trip to the Orient and his basketball streak went by the boards. However, those are the only three games he has missed in 17 years of broadcasting Clemson basketball and he should describe his 500th Clemson basketball game on February 13th of this basketball season.

Phillips is a past president of the Atlantic Coast Conference Sportswriters Association and he also serves as host of Clemson football and basketball coaches' shows on radio and television. He is also a veteran of a dozen years as sports director at WFBC-TV in Greenville, a position he held between 1968 and 1980. He is a five-time winner of the Sportscaster-of-the-Year award in South Carolina.

Prior to coming to Greenville, Phillips broadcast play-by-play for Kent State University in both football and basketball for two years. During that period, he was the sports and program director for WFAH radio in Alliance, OH. He also freelanced a late night sports show on WJAN-TV in Canton, OH.

Tim Bourret will handle color commentary and statistical sidelights for both the football and basketball networks this year. Clemson's associate sports information director has worked with Phillips for the past six years on basketball broadcasts and on the football network for the past three years. This will be his fourth year on both the football and basketball radio networks. He has also worked Clemson baseball playoff games and some selected Greenville Braves games with Phillips over the years, and has some play-by-play experience in basketball and baseball.

Bourret holds a master's degree in communications and an undergraduate degree in finance from Notre Dame. In his seven years at Clemson 41 of his press guides and programs have won national or regional awards. He is currently the national chairman for the CoSIDA Publications Contest Committee.

Clyde Wrenn is entering his third season with the Clemson radio network. The native of Chester, SC is a full-time scout for the Denver Broncos and adds insight to the Clemson broadcasts from a coaching standpoint, and obviously gives excellent evaluation of player talent levels.

Wrenn spent six years at Clemson as a recruiting coordinator under three head coaches. The last class Wrenn brought to Clemson included the seniors on the 1981 National Championship team. He also helped recruit the class of 1978 that included Steve Fuller, Jerry Butler and five other players still in the NFL.

There is a lot more to the Clemson radio network than just the broadcast of the ball game. Clemson football is an all day extravaganza and the Clemson radio network brings it all to you. Beginning three hours prior to gametime, Russ Cassell hosts the Tiger Tailgate Show. This popular show reviews the game, history, features, interviews with interesting guests and in general gets Tiger fans ready for a great game. Jane Robelot and Bert Henderson are the co-hosts of the Tailgate show, which is entering its 10th year on the network.

WFBC AM/FM, headed by general manager Bruce Buchanon, will again be the flagship station for the Clemson network. It will be handled through the office of Greg Anderson at WFBC in Greenville. Any questions regarding the network should be directed to Anderson at (803) 271-9200 or Len Gough, Clemson associate athletic director, at (803) 656-2101.

The recipe for exciting and fun-filled Tiger football outings includes many colorful sidelights—running down the Hill, tailgating, pep rallies, and Tigerama, just to name a few. But, the key ingredient that brings everything together is the capricious and flirtatious nature of that sideline showmen, the Clemson Tiger mascot. The Tiger has entertained children from ages two to 92 for almost 30 years with his sideline antics, and many Tiger stories get better each time they are told.

The Tiger's tail is a much-sought-after prize at away games, as frequent attempts to claim the trophy have resulted in fights between the student bodies of the opposing schools. Tigers have been seen on goalposts, riding motorcycles, posing with the President of the United States, marching in visiting schools' bands, kissing homecoming queens, and generally getting into all kinds of mischief. But, THE Tiger tradition that has gained the most attention is the pushups.

Tiger mascot Zack Mills started a new tradition in the fall of 1978 by doing pushups for every point Clemson scored. This doesn't appear to be so difficult at first glance, but the pushups are done cumulatively. That is, when the gridiron Tigers scored to bring their point total to 17, the mascot Tiger would also do 17 pushups. When the team scored to bring their total to 24, the Tiger would do 24 more pushups, not just seven more. During the 1978 season, Mills established four Tiger pushup records, including the NCAA single season mark of 1,334 pushups in 12 games.

Mills served as the Tiger for two seasons, and in 1980, he turned the stripes of the suit over to Ricky Capps. The rookie Tiger could only manage 600 pushups, as the football Tigers of 1980 were not the scoring machine they had been the two previous years.

In 1981, things picked up, as the on-field Tigers lit up scoreboards to the tune of 338 points in 12 games. Due to the efforts of the National Champions, Capps concluded his senior season with 1,144 pushups, which nearly doubled his 1980 output, and Capps ended his career with 1,755 pushups.

Capps will also be remembered for setting the individual game pushup record. On Halloween Day 1981, Clemson scored 82 points against Wake Forest on the way to setting four conference records and three stadium records. While the team was running up and down the field, Capps was pumping out a total of 465 pushups, a pushup total that may not be broken.

The mascot from Wake Forest showed how spirited he was when Clemson scored its 76th point. Capps was near the point of exhaustion when the Deacon came to the aid of his fellow mascot. The Deacon did the 76 pushups for the Tiger, as the fans counted the total. Clemson scored again to make its point total 82, and Capps, now sufficiently rested, was able to complete the 82 pushups. Capps was recognized by the Tiger Band at the 1982 Orange Bowl, as he was allowed to dot the "i" in Tigers, an honor usually reserved for dignitaries and other bigwigs.

Capps made the symbolic passing of the head to Randy Faile for the 1982 season, and Faile proceeded to bring further honor to the Clemson Tiger as he was named National Universal Cheerleader Association Mascot-of-the-Year at the national championships in Dallas, TX. Faile was the first Tiger to perform overseas duty, as he worked off 72 pushups in the Mirage Bowl in Japan. During his two-year Tiger tenure, Faile surpassed Zack Mills' career record of 1,801 pushups with 2,177 of his own to become Clemson's all-time pushup leader.

Jay Watson, who served as the mascot in 1984, did not break any career records, but he brought notoriety of his own when the Tiger appeared on the same stage with President Reagan in Greenville.

While it appears that the man inside makes the Tiger what he is, the suit is also a story in itself. The head weighs in at about 20 pounds, while the suit tips the scale at 45 pounds. The stripes are lined and quilted, which makes for a lot of weight loss to the Tiger's soul during the ball game. Mills, Capps, Faile, and Watson all report shedding up to 12 pounds in a single game, and to keep the suit from smelling like the inside of an old sock, it must be cleaned three times during a football season.

The 1985 Tiger mascot, David Friedman, certainly has some big "paws" to fill this season. But, after a summer of hard work with the weights, Friedman should be ready for a season of pushups.

The legend of the Clemson Tiger continues to grow, and the question, "Who is that masked man?" will be heard more and more frequently in the coming years.

The Tiger does pushups after every Clemson score.

Sept. 1 Appalachian State at Clemson

Weather: 81 degrees and sunny

Attendance: 75,398

Clemson opened the 1984 season ranked fourth in the nation in the Associated Press poll and the Tigers played like a top five team in the win over Appalachian State. Clemson scored only three points in the first period, but then William Perry and Steve Berlin got the crowd going by tackling Randy Joyce, the Appalachian State quarterback, in the end zone for a safety. Clemson's defense let up only once in the third quarter as the Cats scored on a TD pass of nine yards. William Perry and Dwayne Meadows led the Clemson defense with 10 tackles apiece as the Cats gained only 85 yards through the air. Mike Eppley was in high gear offensively as he hit 13-17 passes and became the nation's leading passer off this performance.

Sept. 8 Clemson at Virginia

Weather: 73 degrees and clear skies

Attendance: 38,676

Clemson has always had problems in the second game of the season and players wondered if this would be the year the mastery over Virginia would come to an end. The Tigers had won 23 in a row over Virginia heading into the contest, but the Tigers had won the second game of the season just four times in the last 20 years. Something had to give. Well, it did in a big way as Clemson defeated Virginia 55-0. Yes, the same Virginia team that went to a bowl game and nearly won the championship of the ACC. Clemson dominated every phase as the second-ranked Tigers made it 20 straight wins over ACC schools. The Tigers had three runners gain at least 60 yards on the ground and Mike Eppley averaged over 20 yards a completion. Ray Williams caught a career high two TD passes, snared a career high six receptions and gained a career high 108 yards in receiving. Clemson climbed to number-two in the nation after the victory.

Sept. 22 Clemson at Georgia

Weather: 80 degrees and sunny

Attendance: 82, 122

Both Clemson and Georgia had an open date before playing each other in Athens in late September. And, it appeared Clemson had used the extra week of preparation to its utmost as Clemson took a 20-6 halftime lead. Mike Eppley was on his game early as he drove Clemson for a score on its second possession, a 16-yard perfectly executed pass to K.D. Dunn. Later, Eppley hit sophomore tailback Terrence Flagler with a 27-yard TD toss to give Clemson the comfortable halftime lead.

But, Georgia is famous for its comebacks, especially in Athens. With just 11 seconds to go in the game Kevin Butler booted a 60-yard field goal to give Georgia a 26-23 lead. Clemson attempted a razzle-dazzle kickoff return and when Terrance Roulhac ran out of bounds a flag was thrown for roughing against Georgia, that would have given Clemson the ball at the Georgia 19 yard-line. But, the officials ruled the clock had run out when Roulhac ran out of bounds and the penalty was called after the game had ended.

Sept. 29 Clemson at Georgia Tech

Weather: 63 degrees and cloudy

Attendance: 57,704

Clemson had its 10-game unbeaten streak snapped at Georgia and the following week Clemson had to travel to Atlanta to face the number-one defensive team in America, Georgia Tech. This was Clemson's first trip to Atlanta since 1977. Apparently still suffering from the memory of Kevin Butler's miracle field goal, Clemson fell behind 21-0 by halftime.

But, Clemson came back in the third and fourth periods and a Mike Eppley to Terrance Roulhac pass tied the game at 21. Georgia Tech had one drive left however, and Kent Easley scored from one yard out with just 33 seconds left to give Georgia Tech a 28-21 win. It was Clemson's second straight loss in the final minute of play and it dropped Clemson out of the top 20 rankings. Stacey Driver was certainly a bright spot for Clemson with 131 yards rushing, a career high for the junior native of Georgia. The Georgia Tech win ended Clemson's incredible 20-game winning streak over teams from the ACC. Safety Ronald Watson had 17 tackles for Clemson, which tied a Tiger record for a defensive back.

Oct. 5 North Carolina at Clemson

Weather: 71 degrees and partly cloudy

Attendance: 80,111

Clemson won its sixth game in the last seven seasons over North Carolina, 20-12 before another capacity crowd in Death Valley. William Perry helped end the field goal battle when he led a Clemson defensive surge that carried momentum to the offense. After Clemson had finally taken a 10-6 lead in the fourth period, Perry stopped Ethan Horton, the ACC's top rusher, twice in a row for losses. On the third play he rushed North Carolina quarterback Kevin Anthony and forced an interception by Henry Walls. Clemson booted a field goal and then Kenny Flowers scored on a 27-yard run to lead Clemson to the victory. The win improved Clemson's home unbeaten streak to 21 games and it gave Clemson a 20-2-2 record when playing in front of at least 60,000 people. Clemson had taken the lead in the game on a 76-yard TD play from Mike Eppley to Terrance Roulhac, the ninth longest TD scoring pass in Clemson history.

Oct. 20 Duke at Clemson

Weather: 76 degrees and sunny

Attendance: 80,617

This October 20 game was the 86th anniversary of Clemson's first home game when Clemson defeated Bingham Military Academy 55-0 in 1898. The 1984 Tigers nearly reached that point total of yesteryear in a 54-21 conquest of Duke on Homecoming. The Tigers won the battle of former Alabama players and coaches (Danny Ford and Steve Sloan) with an offense that just wouldn't quit. Clemson scored 41 points in the first half alone and picked up 547 yards in total offense for the game. Three different Clemson players threw touchdown passes and four different players completed passes. Kenny Flowers averaged over 10 yards a carry and gained 119 yards for the day, while Terrance Roulhac had 129 yards in receiving and caught two touchdown passes. On defense, Clemson's William Perry set two Tiger records as he broke Jim Stuckey's career mark for quarterback sacks and set the Tiger record for tackles for loss in a career. It marked the sixth straight game that Mike Eppley had thrown a touchdown pass.

Oct. 27 Clemson at N.C. State

Weather: 76 degrees and sunny
Attendance: 44,100

Clemson and N.C. State played the highest scoring game in the history of the 85-game series on the last Saturday in October. Clemson used a timely defense in the fourth period to hold off the N.C. State rally and picked up a 35-34 win. It was Clemson's 16th straight win in the month of October. Clemson gained 203 yards on the ground, many of it behind Steve Reese, Clemson's All-ACC guard who graded out at 93 percent for the game and was named the Brut Player of the Game by Raycom Sports. Stacey Driver led the Clemson ground game with 72 yards and a career high three touchdowns. Lombardi Award candidate William Perry had 10 tackles, but his brother Michael had eight, including three behind the line of scrimmage. Henry Walls had 11 tackles, including three in the fourth quarter when N.C. State was trying to take the lead. The two teams combined for 48 first downs and over 700 yards in the total offense.

Nov. 3 Wake Forest at Clemson

Weather: 55 degrees and sunny

Attendance: 71,697

Clemson entered the Wake Forest game with the best record in the nation over the last four years and the Deacons could do nothing to prevent Clemson from enhancing that mark. The Tiger offense was balanced all day as Clemson gained over 200 yards rushing and over 200 yards passing. William Perry set the tempo early as he became the first Clemson player to block a punt with an opposing player. Number-66 shoved the Wake Forest up-back into Wake Forest punter Harry Newsome, causing the blocked punt. Clemson went on to score and held a 27-0 lead in the second period. Donald Igwebuike kicked three fields goals, including a 52-yarder and became the Clemson record holder for career field goals over 50 yards. Mike Eppley became Clemson's all-time leader in career TD passes when he connected with All-ACC wide receiver Terrance Roulhac with a 10-yard score in the first period. It gave Eppley 25 for his career.

Nov. 10 Virginia Tech at Clemson

Weather: 64 degrees and cloudy

Attendance: 77,754

The Virginia Tech game was justifiably billed as a defensive struggle as it showcased two of America's top defensive linemen, Bruce Smith and William Perry. It was just about a standoff between the two All-Americans, but the real star of the day in the line was William's little brother, Michael Perry. The freshman tackle had 10 tackles, three stops for loss and two quarterback sacks to go with a caused fumble in Clemson's 17-10 win. Clemson also got a fine game out of Terence Mack who had seven stops and broke up a pass. Offensively, Clemson scored a touchdown on a 66-yard pass from Mike Eppley to Terrance Roulhac. The play put Eppley over 3,000 yards passing in his career and it gave Roulhac eight touchdowns receiving, a Clemson regular season record. Ray Williams put the game away in the third period as he scored on a 17-yard reverse for a touchdown, his second rushing touchdown of the season.

Nov. 17 Clemson at Maryland

Weather: 46 degrees and sunny

Attendance: 60,575

Clemson made its first trip to play Maryland in Baltimore at Memorial Stadium, the old home of the Baltimore Colts. The Terps gained revenge for Clemson's sound 52-27 beating of Maryland the year before in Death Valley. Maryland gained 577 yards in total offense, the second best day ever for a Clemson opponent. Three Terps gained over 90 yards rushing in the game as Maryland won the second half 24-6. One of Clemson's bright spots was the play of All-America middle guard William Perry who recorded a career high 16 tackles in the contest, including three stops for loss and two sacks. Kenny Flowers picked up a career high 136 yards in 20 carries and actually gave Clemson a 23-17 lead in the third period, but Maryland scored 24 points in a row from that point to make their first game in Baltimore in over 20 years a joyous occasion.

Nov. 24 South Carolina at Clemson

Weather: 61 degrees and sunny

Attendance: 82,093

Clemson attempted to use every possible psychological advantage in the season finale against South Carolina. The Tigers did not warm-up in the stadium, instead they used the indoor gym at the Jervy Athletic Center. The pre-game psych helped Clemson get off to a good start and the Tigers held a 21-3 lead late in the second period. Three different tailbacks scored touchdowns for the Tigers in the first half, Terrence Flagler, Stacey Driver and Steve Griffin. But, South Carolina demonstrated its second half comeback ability as the Gamecocks out-scored Clemson 12-0 in the second half. Joe Morrison's team scored the game-winner with just 54 seconds left as Mike Hold culminated an 84-yard drive with a one-yard run. The South Carolina win was its first at Clemson since the 1970 season and it broke a 25-game home unbeaten streak for the Tigers. It was the only home loss for Clemson's senior class.

School Colors and Nickname

The late William J. Latimer, 1906 graduate of Clemson College, did some extensive research on the football program at his alma mater, and offered the following in regard to the school's nickname and colors:

Professor Walter Merritt Riggs, who coached Clemson's first varsity football team in 1896, and who also served as head coach again in 1899, is said to have "planted the seed" for the school's grid program.

In referring to the players from that first team, Latimer said, "Due to the lack of helmets and head protection they (the players) wore long hair. These long manes might have gained them the name of Lions had it not been for the orange and purple striped jersey's and stockings that resembled tigers. The latter nickname seemed to stick."

Latimer then observed about John Heisman's 1900 Clemson team: "They had been called Tigers early in their career. And Clemson used the insignia of a Tigers' head with bared fangs, with the motto 'Eat Em Up Clemson' before Heisman's day."

Latimer's findings are substantiated by the fact that Riggs had played football at Auburn (nicknamed Tigers) and that its colors were orange and blue.

The official colors of the school are Northwest Purple and Burnt Orange, with the predominant colors on today's athletic uniforms being orange and white.

Joe Sherman '34, former Clemson sports publicist, news bureau director, and director of Clemson's alumni relations, offered the following in his book, The Clemson Tigers, which was published in 1976:

"It is extremely doubtful that anyone can tell you with certainty how the Clemson colors swung from purple (and a rather pale purple, at that) and gold to what for several years was described as Northwestern purple and burnt orange.

"But that the colors have changed, unofficially if not officially, is a fact and there is a story about it that is probably as good as any other explanation.

"It says that in the early years of Jess Neely's tenure, he found it almost impossible to get uniforms in purple and gold that would be 'color fast.' In other words, between constant exposure to both the weather and the washing machines, the purple and gold faded markedly and became difficult, if not impossible, to recognize for what they were supposed to be.

"So, working with professional color people in the school of textiles and with sporting goods manufacturers, Neely finally arrived at deeper colors (a slightly deeper purple and a gold that became orange) that were more color fast in that they held up better under the rays of the sun, the agitations of the washing machines and the carry-over from season to season."

Still, most people believe that the purple and orange are the true colors.

"Working hard and getting back to the basics."

That's the theme of new Strength Training Director Gary Wade as he prepares the Tigers for the upcoming fall campaigns. Wade is planning on intense workouts in the weightroom to help the Tigers continue their recent athletic success.

Entering his first year at the Clemson helm, Wade brings with him much experience in the strength training field. Before taking the Clemson job in March, he was strength and conditioning coach of the Detroit Lions for five years. Wade also worked as an undergraduate and graduate student at the University of Nebraska.

A major reason Clemson has excelled in sports in recent years is the development of the strength and conditioning program. Whereas, the program had just a few dead weights and a store-bought weight bench about nine years ago, Clemson now has one of the nation's finest and most well-equipped facilities. The room will soon expand again with 1,300 more square feet and more weight machines composing the addition.

The strength training room contains nearly a quarter of a million dollars of CAM II machines, Nautilus machines, and free weights. The facility was designed not only for the football team's training, but for all of Clemson's 17 varsity sports. Each athletic team has its own training program. The program for most sports is designed for each individual, but the football workout is broken down by positions.

"We want well-balanced workouts," says Wade. "We want our football players to have good strength and flexibility and be well-conditioned. We want them to be able to perform at peak efficiency for four quarters.

"I think we've made tremendous strides so far. We've also set standards with the players—we want them to live up to their capabilities and to think that 'I owe it to myself and the rest of the team to be the best athlete I can possibly be.'"

Clemson has placed six football players on the All-American Strength Team over the years, including one last year. Kenny Flowers, a rising junior running back, was named to the All-American team for the 1984 football season. This year, Flowers, who has also been on the track team, has the fastest 40-yard time on the Clemson squad with a time of 4.34 seconds. He also has the highest power clean weight of any offensive or defensive backs with 300 pounds. Flowers has benched 300 pounds, pressed 700 on the leg sled, and had a vertical jump of 32 inches, all highs among tailbacks.

Clemson has reached new levels of athletic success with its strength program and with Wade's leadership and enthusiasm the trend should continue.

Just before Jess Neely left for Rice University, he gave them a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow. And grow and grow.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A. N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron moved on to be a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the building of the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete was being poured. The story claims the tobacco is still there.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I layed the sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through. I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more weeks' pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through.

"After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West endzone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to approximately 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000, or $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillian. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillian said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later, the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features which make it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house.

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. A unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

Rick Brewer, an official in the University athletic ticket office says that despite the stadium's large size, there are still season ticket problems. "When the second upper deck was built, we thought it would take care of everything," he said. "To our dismay, it hasn't. We've filled the upper decks and have moved season ticket holders into the endzone, which are not permanent seats."

Despite the apparent ticket crunch, Robinson says there are no immediate plans to further expand the stadium. "Before we expand we'll have to show over an extended length of time—like five to seven years—that we can sell out what we have now," he said. "We don't want supply to greatly exceed demand. Even though it's hard to get tickets now, we can still get people in our stadium. The ticket means more if its harder to get."

But if Memorial Stadium is expanded again one day and capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for the construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson Sports Review for 1984-85

List of Interests

Former Clemson players who have played in NFL-AFL Pro Bowls:

Dwight Clark, 1982, 1983
Bill Hudson, 1962
Ray Mathews, 1952, 53, 59
Bill Mathis, 1960, 61, 63
Charlie Waters, 1976, 77, 78

Three national championship victories highlighted the 1984-85 sports year at Clemson University. The overall program captured 41 points in the Knoxville Journal All-Sports poll, the sixth time in the last seven years Clemson has finished in the top 20 of the poll.

From a team standpoint, the men's soccer team had the most achievements as it won Clemson's second national team title in history. The Clemson football team captured the 1981 National Championship with a win over former champion Nebraska, and the 1984 Clemson soccer team won the National Championship with a victory over two-time defending National Champion Indiana.

It was a storybook journey for Dr. I. M. Ibraham and his soccer team as Clemson defeated five top 20 teams, including the top four teams in the nation on the way to the NCAA tournament championship. Clemson became the first team in any sport to defeat the top four seeded teams on the way to the NCAA championship.

Nine Clemson teams finished in the top 30 in the nation this year. The women's cross country team took fifth place in the national championships, while the men's team finished 13th. The women's track teams had three top 35 rankings as the indoor women's team was 12th and the outdoor team was 35th. Both Clemson tennis teams finished in the top 20 in the nation as Chuck Kriese's team made it seven straight years in the top 15 with a number-eight final ranking. The women's tennis team was 18th in the final poll.

Wrestling and swimming were two sports on the rise in 1984-85. The wrestlers finished second in the regular season of the ACC race and were ranked as high as 11th in the nation at one point during the regular season. The men's and women's swimming teams were both ranked in the top 20 most of the season and the women's final ranking was 19th best in the country.

Individually, three Tigers were involved in national championships. Tina Krebs, who was an All-American in cross country, indoor and outdoor track, won the 1500 meters at the indoor national championships in Syracuse, NY in February. It was her second indoor National Championship since coming to Clemson in 1982. She is just the second Clemson athlete to become a three-time All-American in the same academic year. Men's tennis players Richard Matuszewski and Brandon Walters won the national indoor doubles championship in Louisville in February.

Clemson had seven ACC MVPs this year, more than any other year in the school's history. William Perry became only the fifth defensive player in ACC history to be named the MVP in football, while Jim McCollom became Clemson's first ACC MVP in baseball since 1976. Coy Cobb was named the ACC Swimmer-of-the-Year and Clemson swept the diving MVP awards as Chuck Wade won the male award and Carolyn Hodge won the female award. Greg Moses was named the MVP of the league in track as he won the 100- and 200-meter dashes at the outdoor track meet in Raleigh, while Robert deBrouwer was the individual cross country champion. Bob Boettner was the only Clemson coach to be named an ACC Coach-of-the-Year as he was so honored in swimming for 1984-85.

Overall, Clemson athletes were named All-American 19 times in 1984-85, breaking the Clemson record of 18 set during the 1979-80 academic year. Additionally 60 athletes won all-conference honors and 29 athletes were individual ACC champions in various sports and events.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Counting everyone in the press box complex, the 1984 South Carolina game set a record for media coverage in Clemson history. A total of 415 press passes were distributed by Sports Information Director Bob Bradley, and he has the records of each game back to 1954. A total of 74 sportswriters representing 38 papers sent representatives. Eleven other newspapers sent photographers only. There were 24 people representing 11 radio stations, 54 people representing TV stations and 161 photographers (counting TV crews) altogether. Additionally, seven pro teams sent scouts and representatives from nine bowls were in attendance.

1940 Cotton Bowl January 1, 1940 — Dallas, TX Clemson 6, Boston College 3

Jess Neely's last Clemson team won eight games in the regular season and had come within a blocked extra point of escaping the regular season without a loss. The 8-1 Tigers were rewarded with an invitation to play Boston College in the fourth Cotton Bowl, but Clemson first had to get permission from the Southern Conference, which they immediately granted. The 1939 season not only resulted in Clemson's first bowl appearance, but also the Tigers' first All-American, Banks McFadden.

On the last play of the first quarter, Bru Trexler punted to BC's Charlie O'Rourke, who fielded the punt on the Clemson 40 and returned it to the 13. Two running plays lost 10 yards, but on third down Frank Davis gained six. Alex Lukachik then kicked a 34-yard field goal to put the Eagles up 3-0.

Clemson's scoring drive began when McFadden returned an Eagle punt to the 33. Charlie Timmons rushed for 15 yards in two plays, and two plays after that, McFadden hit Wister Jackson with a 16-yard pass to the Eagle 20. Timmons ran the final 20 yards in three carries, but Bryant missed the extra point.

A 51-yard punt by McFadden started Boston College at its 20. The Eagles fumbled on first down and Clemson's George Fritts recovered at the 24. The Tigers could do nothing with the gift, however, as Joe Blalock fumbled after a short pass.

The game turned into a defensive struggle in the second half, although Boston College did penetrate deep into Clemson territory on two occasions. The Eagles took the opening kickoff to the Clemson 19, but a holding penalty and an incomplete pass ended the threat and BC was forced to punt.

Late in the game, the Eagles drove to the Clemson 11, but Bryant and McFadden broke up two passes and Clemson took over on downs.

McFadden effectively bottled up the Eagles other than those drives with his punting. His 45-yard average on nine kicks, including two boots for 51 and 55 yards in the second half, prevented Boston College from getting good field position, and the Clemson defense made the 6-3 score stand.

1949 Gator Bowl January 1, 1949 — Jacksonville, FL Clemson 24, Missouri 23

Clemson opened the 1948 season with a 53-0 shut out of Presbyterian in the Tigers' first-ever night home game and they closed the regular season with a 20-0 blanking of The Citadel in the first game played at the Bulldogs' Johnson Hagood Stadium. In between, the Tigers shut out three more opponents and beat five others on the way to a 10-0 record, a ninth-place ranking in the polls, and an invitation to play Missouri in the fourth Gator Bowl.

Clemson kicked off, but three plays later Missouri fumbled and Clemson's Bob Martin recovered at the 19. A pass interference call gave the Tigers the ball at the one, and Fred Cone scored from there. Jack Miller added the point after and Clemson led 7-0.

Ray Mathews recovered a Missouri fumble later in the quarter to give Clemson the ball at its 35. Mathews took the next play for 26 yards and five plays later Bobby Gage passed to Martin for 19 more. Cone scored for the second time from the one, and Miller's conversion gave the Southern Conference champs a 14-0 lead.

After a kickoff, Missouri launched an 80-yard drive to score its first touchdown. Harold Entsminger capped the 13-play march with a quarterback sneak from the two. Robertson Dawson added the seventh point.

Bobby Gage quarterbacked Clemson in the 1948 Gator Bowl.

Gage was intercepted on the next Clemson drive and Wilbur Volz returned the theft to the Missouri 46. Missouri kept the ball on the ground and Entsminger carried over from the one for the score. Dawson added his second point after and the game was tied at 14.

Clemson took the second-half kickoff and used up six minutes of clock on the way to its third touchdown. Gage ran and passed for 19 yards on two separate plays and the Tigers scored on a flea-flicker pass from Cone to Gage to John Poulos in the end zone. Miller completed the 80-yard drive with his third PAT.

A Missouri punt rolled dead at the Clemson one, and after an incomplete pass, Gage threw a pass that hit the ground in the end zone and was ruled a safety. Clemson's lead was then cut to 21-16.

Clemson then launched a 11-play surge to the Missouri 12. With fourth-and-10, Miller kicked a 32-yard field goal that would prove to be the winning points.

Dave Ashley returned the kickoff to the Missouri 40, and seven plays later, halfback Richard Braznell passed to Kenneth Bounds for a 20-yard touchdown. Dawson added the point to bring Missouri within one point with five minutes left. Clemson took the kickoff and ran out the clock to preserve the win.

1951 Orange Bowl January 1, 1951 — Miami, FL Clemson 15, Miami (FL) 14

Clemson's bid for a repeat of the 1948 perfect season ended when the Tigers had to rely on the toe of Charlie Radcliff to tie South Carolina after three season-opening shut-outs. Clemson regrouped, however, with a 13-12 win at Wake Forest and then won the remaining four games by convincing margins. The Tigers' 8-0-1 mark and second-place finish in the Southern Conference earned them a bid to play Miami, who was also undefeated at 9-0-1, in the 17th Orange Bowl.

After a scoreless first quarter, Clemson got on track with a 45-yard pass from Billy Hair to Bob Hudson that put the Tigers at the Miami one. Fred Cone capped the 76-yard drive on third down with a sweep for the score and Radcliff tacked on the extra point.

Clemson mounted a six-play, 70-yard drive in the third quarter for its second touchdown. Hair threw a 31-yard pass to Ray Mathews, who, as the papers said, "made a circus catch with two men on his back" to move the Tigers to the Miami 28. Hair tossed a pass to Glenn Smith at the Miami seven and Smith scrambled in for the score. Radcliff's extra point try was blocked.

Sterling Smith saved the 1951 Orange Bowl for Clemson.

Miami caught fire two minutes later when Jack Delbello intercepted a pass in the Clemson end zone and returned it to the 40 and then a 10-yard penalty was assessed the Tigers for unnecessary roughness. On the next play, Frank Smith ran a reverse for 45 yards to move to the Clemson five. Harry Mallios took a pitch from quarterback Bob Schneidenbach in for the score and Gordon Watson added the conversion.

Miami went 95 yards in five plays for its second score. Ed Lutes caught a pass at midfield and rambled down to the Clemson 17 before he was stopped. On fourth down, Jack Hackett threw to Frank Smith for the score and Watson's point put Miami in the lead for the first time at 14-13.

Mallios' 80-yard punt return was called back and two clipping infractions and one unnecessary roughness penalty put Miami in a deep hole with six minutes left in the game. Frank Smith took a pitchout from Hackett, but before Smith could get out of the end zone, Sterling Smith, a second-team defensive guard for Clemson, tripped him up for a safety, and Clemson led 15-14. J. D. Wade ended the last Miami threat with an interception, and Clemson ran out the clock for the win.

1952 Gator Bowl January 1, 1952 — Jacksonville, FL Miami (FL) 14, Clemson 0

Clemson won the first three games of the 1951 season as well as the last four. In between, however, the Tigers dropped games to Pacific and South Carolina on the road. The Gator Bowl Committee invited Clemson with its 7-2 record to play Miami (FL) in a rematch of the 1951 Orange Bowl, but the Southern Conference had decided to ban its teams from any bowl competition that season. Clemson and Maryland accepted bowl bids anyway, and were prohibited from playing any other conference team except each other the next year.

The Tigers opened the game with a bang as Billy Hair took Elmer Tremont's kickoff and returned it 72 yards to the Miami 26, but Clemson could only make six yards in four downs and the Tigers turned the ball over.

After an exchange of punts, Miami mounted an 82-yard drive to score the game's first touchdown. The drive was highlighted by quarterback Jack Hackett's only two passes of the game — a 15-yarder to Frank McDonald and a 40-yard throw to Ed Lutes. Two plays later, fullback Harry Mallios took the pitch and ran 11 yards for the score. Tremont added the extra point and Miami led 7-0.

Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted the first of four passes to kill the Clemson drive at the Miami 15. Clemson got the ball back after a punt, but on fourth down, defensive end Leo Martin blocked Hair's punt at the Clemson 32. Mallios converted twice on fourth down to keep the drive going and he scored from two yards out. Tremont converted again and Miami had all the points it needed.

The Clemson defense turned stingy in the second half, as the Tigers did not allow Miami to penetrate their 35 and the Hurricane did not gain another first down. The Clemson offense moved well, but a fumble at the Miami 18 and three Dooley interceptions inside the 20 kept Clemson off the scoreboard as Miami handed the Tigers their first bowl loss in four tries.

1957 Orange Bowl January 1, 1957 — Miami, FL Colorado 27, Clemson 21

Clemson claimed its first Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 1956 on the strength of a 4-0-1 league mark. The Tigers were 7-1-2 overall and were a surprise choice to participate in the 22nd Orange Bowl, as only three weeks before their selection, the Tigers had been shut out by Miami, 21-0, in the same stadium. Colorado, which was 7-2-1 and the Big-Seven runnerup, was chosen as Clemson's opponent.

After a scoreless first quarter, Colorado got on track with a seven-play, 75-yard drive. The Buffaloes' catalyst was a 26-yard run by Bob Stransky that moved the ball to the Clemson 23. Four plays later, John "The Beast" Bayuk scored from the two. Ellwin Indorf added the point after.

Stransky intercepted an errant Charlie Bussey pass at the Clemson 46 and returned it to the 10 to spark Colorado's second score. Boyd Dowler, who later starred with the Packers, scored from six yards out two plays later. Howard Cook added the conversion and Colorado led 14-0.

Colorado's Frank Clarke partially blocked Horace Turbeville's punt on the next Clemson drive and the Buffaloes recovered on the Clemson 26. Cook then went wide right and scored on the next play, but he missed the extra point.

Trailing 20-0, Clemson coach Frank Howard told his players that he would resign if they did not play any better in the second half. Having been sufficiently shaken, Clemson came out of the locker room and marched 69 yards in 15 plays to score on Joel Wells' three-yard run. Bussey's extra point try was good.

After a Colorado punt, Clemson moved to the 29 on Bob Spooner's two runs. Three plays later, Wells ran 58 yards on a counter trap off the belly for the Tigers' second score. Bussey's point after made the score 20-14 Colorado.

Clemson recovered the onside kick, but the Tigers were forced to punt four plays later. Colorado then fumbled at its 11 and Tommy Sease recovered for the Tigers at the 10. Spooner, who had been the workhorse on the first scoring drive, carried the ball over from the one, and with Bussey's third extra point, Clemson led for the first time at 21-20, with 11:22 to go.

Although leading, Bussey attempted a second onside kick. Colorado recovered and marched 53 yards in eight plays to go ahead for good on Bayuk's one-yard plunge. Indorf kicked the extra point and the Buffaloes led 27-21. The two teams traded turnovers, and Colorado ran out the clock.

1959 Sugar Bowl January 1, 1959 — New Orleans, LA LSU 7, Clemson 0

South Carolina, who had been shut out by Clemson the previous two years, scored 20 second half points to take 26-6 win over Frank Howard's 1958 team. The only other blemish on the ACC Champions' 8-2 regular season record was a 13-0 loss at Georgia Tech. For their efforts, the Tigers were invited to play the nation's number-one team, Louisiana State, in the 25th Sugar Bowl.

LSU drove deep into Clemson territory three times in the first half, but two fumbles and a thwarted fake field goal killed the drives. Clemson could do no better, though, as none of its six drives went past midfield.

Clemson moved to the LSU 27 on its first drive of the second half, but a fumble gave the ball back to the other set of Tigers. On Clemson's next possession, however, LSU got the break it had been looking for. On fourth down, the ball slipped out of snapper Paul Snyder's hands and hit up-man Doug Cline in the leg and Duane Leopard recovered for LSU at the Clemson 11.

LSU picked up two yards on its first three tries, but on fourth down halfback Billy Cannon hit tight end Mickey Mangham in the corner of the end zone for the only score of the game. Cannon kicked the extra point and LSU led 7-0.

Clemson had one last chance late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers started at their 17 and 17 plays later were on the LSU 28, but Harvey White's fourth down pass to George Usry was incomplete. LSU took over on downs and ran out the clock.

Ron Scrudato scores Clemson's last touchdown against TCU in the 1959 Bluebonnet Bowl.

1959 Bluebonnet Bowl
December 19, 1959 — Houston, TX
Clemson 23, Texas Christian 7

The 1959 season was one of firsts, lasts, and other milestones. Clemson won the last "Big Thursday" game with archrival South Carolina, 27-0, one of five opponents the Tigers would whitewash, the second-highest shutout total in a Clemson season. The 9-2 team was Clemson's third ACC Championship unit, and Frank Howard's last bowl team. After the season-ending win over Furman, Clemson was invited to play Texas Christian in the inaugural Bluebonnet Bowl, which would be the Tigers' second post-season appearance in the calendar year of 1959. The 23-7 win over the Horned Frogs was Clemson's 300th football victory.

Alternate quarterback Lowndes Shingler guided Clemson on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the TCU five, but the Tigers stalled. Lon Armstrong hit on a 22-yard field goal as the second quarter started to put Clemson up 3-0.

Not to be outdone, TCU second-stringer Donald George moved his team on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the Clemson end zone. The Horned Frogs scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 19-yard half-back pass from Jack Reding to Harry Moreland.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Clemson did drive to the TCU 29 midway through the period. Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was just one yard short of the needed first down and TCU took over.

Clemson got pass-happy in the final 15 minutes and scored two touchdowns to put the Tigers ahead. With a third-and-18 situation at the Clemson 32, White threw to end Gary Barnes who caught the ball at midfield and sprinted in for one score. After an interception, Shingler threw to Tommy King coming across the middle for a 23-yard touchdown, but Shingler's point after was wide and Clemson led 16-7.

Clemson returned to its running game for its final scoring drive late in the quarter. Shingler, Doug Daigneault, and Ron Scrudato moved the Tigers from their 37 to the TCU one and Scrudato ran off right tackle for the score. Armstrong's kick put the game out of TCU's reach and it capped a 20-point fourth quarter for the Tigers.

1977 Gator Bowl
December 30, 1977 — Jacksonville, FL
Pittsburgh 34, Clemson 3

Clemson resurfaced in the national spotlight in 1977 after winning eight games and making their first bowl appearance in 18 years. First-year coach Charley Pell guided his team to a 7-6 win at Georgia, a near-upset of eventual National Champion Notre Dame at home, and had come within an extra point of claiming the ACC Championship. After Jerry Butler's twisting, diving catch in the end zone beat South Carolina, Clemson accepted the invitation to play defending National Champion Pittsburgh in the 33rd annual Gator Bowl.

Clemson won the opening coin toss, but that was to be the only thing the Tigers would win that night as the Matt Cavanaugh-led Panthers scored six of the 12 times they had the ball, set seven Gator Bowl records, and handed the Tigers one of their 25 worst defeats in history.

Cavanaugh threw four touchdown passes (three to fullback Elliott Walker), passed for a Clemson opponent record 387 yards and accounted for 402 yards in total offense. If that was not enough, the Pitt defense stymied the Clemson offense all night by keeping Steve Fuller & Company bottled up or causing turnovers when the Tigers offense did get on track.

Pitt was leading 17-0 when the Tigers began their only scoring drive early in the second quarter. Fuller mixed passes to Anthony King and Butler with runs by Ken Callicutt to move to the Pitt 32. The drive bogged down and Obed Ariri hit on a 49-yard field goal which set the Gator Bowl record for distance.

Although the Tigers were out-classed by Pittsburgh, the 1977 appearance in the Gator Bowl was the start of a new era of football prowess for Clemson.

1978 Gator Bowl

December 29, 1978 — Jacksonville, FL
Clemson 17, Ohio State 15

The Clemson team of 1978 was notable for many reasons, and not the least of which was a 17-15 victory over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. The '78 team won 11 games (eight by convincing margins), had the nation's longest winning streak after the bowl game, changed head coaches 19 days before the Gator Bowl, and ended the coaching career of Woody Hayes.

The first quarter of new Clemson coach Danny Ford's first game was scoreless, although Ohio State had been stopped at the Clemson one-yard line on a fourth down play.

The second quarter was unusual in that there were four possessions in the stanza and each team scored twice. Ohio State drove to the Clemson nine on the passing of Art Schlichter, but the Buckeyes had to settle for Bob Atha's 27-yard field goal.

Clemson quarterback Steve Fuller engineered an impressive 80-yard, 15-play drive after the kickoff. Staying mostly on the ground, Fuller, himself, ran around left end from four yards out to give Clemson the lead. Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-3.

Schlichter duplicated Fuller's feat nine plays later, but Clemson right end Steve Gibbs blocked Vlade Janakiewski's extra point try, leaving Ohio State in the lead, 9-7.

Clemson got the ball back with 1:15 remaining in the quarter and Fuller passed his way to the Buckeye 30. With only five seconds left, Ariri hit a 47-yard field goal that gave the Tigers a 10-9 lead at halftime.

Clemson scored the only points of the third quarter as the running combination of Fuller, Marvin Sims, and Warren Ratchford ground out 83 yards in 18 plays. Cliff Austin went the final yard for the score, and Ariri's conversion gave Clemson a 17-9 cushion.

With 8:11 left in the game, Schlichter scored his second touchdown to bring Ohio State within two points. Jim Stuckey tackled Schlichter on a sweep to prevent the two-point play, and Clemson still led at 17-15.

Ohio State mounted one final drive, but an interception by second-team middle guard Charlie Bauman (the only theft of his four-year career) killed the drive. Bauman was run out-of-bounds on the Ohio State sideline, and Buckeye coach Woody Hayes swung at the Clemson player. Consecutive unsportsmanlike conduct penalties gave Clemson excellent field position, and Fuller was able to run out the clock, giving Clemson its first win over a Big Ten team.

1979 Peach Bowl

December 31, 1979 — Atlanta, GA
Baylor 24, Clemson 18

Clemson made its third consecutive bowl appearance in 1979 after an 8-3 season. The year included a 19-10 win over Gator Bowl-bound North Carolina and a dramatic, come-from-behind 16-10 victory at Notre Dame. The 1979 season was also Danny Ford's first full campaign as head coach.

The Tigers got on the board first with an eight-play, 66-yard drive highlighted by Billy Lott's 27-yard pass to Lester Brown. Brown scored two plays later on a one-yard dive over the middle and Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-0 midway through the first period.

Baylor took the lead on two second-quarter touchdown passes from Mike Brannon to Bo Taylor and Robert Holt. Robert Bledsoe converted after both scores and the Southwest Conference representatives led 14-7 at intermission.

Clemson took the second half kickoff and a combination of runs by Lott, Brown, and Tracy Perry took the Tigers to the Baylor 22. The drive stalled there and Ariri's 40-yard field goal narrowed the margin to 14-10.

Quarterback Mickey Elam led Baylor on a 64-yard field goal drive after the kickoff, and he later threw a seven-yard touchdown to Raymond Cockrell to push the Bears' lead to 24-10.

Andy Headen began Clemson's furious comeback with a blocked punt that was recovered by James Robinson at the Baylor one. Chuck McSwain scored with 20 seconds left in the game and Lott passed to Jeff McCall for the two-point conversion. Headen recovered the ensuing onside kick, and Lott completed a 30-yard pass to Perry Tuttle to move the Tigers to the Baylor 33. An interception killed the winning touchdown drive, however, and Baylor ran out the remaining second for the win.

1982 Orange Bowl January 1, 1982 — Miami, FL Clemson 22, Nebraska 15

After 86 years of playing football, Clemson claimed its first National Championship with a 22-15 win over perennial Big Eight power Nebraska in the 48th Orange Bowl. After a 13-3 win over 1980 National Champion Georgia at home, the Tigers worked their way to the number-one ranking in both wire service polls by season's end. The win over the Cornhuskers gave Clemson the national title and its third perfect season in history.

Nebraska took the kickoff, but three plays later, Tiger middle guard William Devane recovered a Mark Mauer fumble at the Nebraska 33. Quarterback Homer Jordan drove Clemson to the Nebraska 27 before the drive stalled, and Donald Igwebuike drilled a 41-yard field goal to put the ACC Champions up, 3-0.

Nebraska came right back, however, as the Big Eight title holder drove 69 yards in eight plays to score on a 25-yard halfback pass from Mike Rozier to Anthony Steels. Kevin Seibel's extra point gave Nebraska the lead at 7-3 with 6:43 to go in the first quarter.

After an exchange of punts, the Clemson offense moved from the Nebraska 42 to the 21 to set up Igwebuike's second field goal. The 37-yard boot narrowed the score to 7-6.

A second-quarter Phil Bates fumble gave Clemson the ball at the Nebraska 27, and the running combination of Jordan, Kevin Mack, and Cliff Austin moved the ball to the Cornhusker two. Austin, who had been stuck in the hotel elevator for two hours earlier in the day, scampered in for the score that gave Clemson a lead it would not relinquish.

On its second possession of the second half, Clemson drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score its final touchdown of the night, a 13-yard pass from Jordan to All-America receiver Perry Tuttle in the corner of the end zone. For Tuttle, it was his eighth touchdown grab of the season, which set a school record. Bob Paulling's extra point put the Tigers ahead, 19-7.

After Billy Davis' 47-yard punt return, Jordan moved the Tigers to the Nebraska 20, where Igwebuike kicked a 36-yard field goal, his third of the evening, to put Clemson ahead 22-7 with two-and-a-half minutes left in the third stanza.

Nebraska was down but not out, though. After a near-interception by Jeff Davis, Mauer engineered an eight-play, 69-yard drive that was capped by a 26-yard run by Roger Craig. After a penalty, Craig ran in the two-point conversion from eight yards out to close the gap to 22-15 with nine minutes to play.

The Clemson defense shut down the Big Red on their final extended drive and the offense held on to the ball for nearly five-and-a-half minutes to run down the clock to six seconds. Andy Headen deflected Mauer's desperation pass to preserve the win and the championship for Clemson.
